

WASHINGTON CHESS LETTER

DECEMBER 1949

EDITORIAL

by Jack Finnigan

Tournament directors always seem to get both barrels from both directions. Anyway, that's what Charley Joachim got when he graciously offered to direct the Washington State Championship Tournament rather than play in it and defend his title. As it turned out, the strain of directing was probably greater than if he had played in the tournament.

Interspersing the exciting rounds of play were some interesting arguments--about whether the tournament should be played off in the minimum number of rounds (five in this case) or an extra round be added to make it a six-round Swiss. (Schedules had previously been published both ways in this bulletin). After much bickering and see-saw voting the five-rounders won out, but it is still the conviction of yours truly that a six-round Swiss would've had a much more satisfactory and convincing finish. If Bob Stork had played and polished off Vernon Holmes in an extra round (or vice versa) there could have been no doubt as to whom rated the title. In the event of a draw, Bob would have won the prize. Running the Swiss off in the minimum number of rounds gives much the same results as the ordinary elimination tournament. An early loss practically puts a player out of the running as far as first place is concerned no matter how strong he finishes.

Every man is entitled to his opinion and I am lucky enough to have a whole page in which to "pop off". However, you chess players, woodpushers and experts alike, are invited to write in on this or any other subject (let's keep it on Chess) and we'll give your opinions an airing, too.

In no sense do I mean to detract from Mr. Joachim's job in handling the tournament, the job is certainly no picnic and all in all, he did very well. I'm merely expressing my ideas on the Swiss system after having directed and played in several tournaments of that type. Nor do I want to take anything away from Bob Stork's fine performance. The lad from Olympia certainly deserved the victory! 'Twas a clean cut decision.

More data (P. 4) about Elmars Zengalis, the Latvian chess champ, was received here. According to the latest dope he will arrive in Seattle about the middle of January. Elmars has compiled quite a record for himself, finishing ahead of chess giants such as Saemisch, Bogoljubov, O'Kelly, Unsicker, etc. in recent tournaments. The young fellow will be a great asset to the Pacific Northwest chessically speaking. Looks like Mr. Ulvestad and Mr. Dake might be in for some tough competition!

THE WINNAH!! AND NEW CHAMPEEN - BOB STORK

Robert C. Stork headed back for his home in Chehalis Sunday night (Dec. 4th) with a grin splitting his face from ear to ear. And why shouldn't he be happy, after all, he was lugging home with him the thing that 19 other hopeful chess enthusiasts had traveled from all over the state to compete for --- the Washington State Chess Championship!

Playing consistently good chess, Stork breezed through his games with a perfect score of 5-0. No other player was able to escape the bitter taste of defeat.

Runner-up was Vernon Holmes of Tacoma who came up from behind to cop second place with 4-1. Had he not suffered an early loss at the hands of Floyd Hebert, he would have been a strong contender at the finish.

Third place was split three ways between Lawrence Allyn, Jack Finnigan and Don Seiter, the Sonneborn-Berger system failing to break the ties. Former champion, Charles Joachim deserves a hand for his work in directing the tournament.

Tournament Tidbit:

One player (who shall remain anonymous) commented on the steady increase of noise after players finished their games, making it increasingly difficult to concentrate. The payoff, however, came while he was trying to figure out an exceptionally complex combination. The club phone rang and our poor hero spent the next few minutes listening to an elderly gent helping his spouse decide whether to have roast beef or veal for dinner. Although our friend lost out in his combination, he had the satisfaction (?) of knowing somebody would eat pork that night.

NOURSE, REHBERG TO PLAY OFF FOR KITSAP COUNTY CHESS CROWN

Jack Nourse and George Rehberg finished their tournament schedule all tied up, so they will have to sweat it out in a play off match for the Kitsap County Chess Championship. Nourse, the present champion, is a slight pre-match favorite to retain his title, but anything can happen in chess played "Kitsap style". The winner of the championship match will be the first player to score four points.

Final Tournament Standings:

MORE ABOUT LATVIAN CHAMP; RECORD IMPRESSIVE!!

We received some interesting information on Elmars Zengalis from Jim Schmitt of Portland who writes:

"I was VERY much interested to read of the probable arrival of Elmars Zengalis in Seattle. If you can work him into your schedule up there in some way things should really be poppin'! When I read the story on Z, the name seemed familiar to me, and sure enuf, I found the following in British Chess Magazine, August 1949: "Elmars Zengalis, 25 year-old Latvian D. P., owed his success to a careful style and a faculty for playing according to the needs of the position, not the score. He was unbeaten, in fact has been unbeaten for 18 months. In '42 he was Latvian trade union champion and in Germany since the War has had the following successes: Augsburg 1946 - 2nd to Unzicker; Regensburg '46 - 2nd to Bogatyrcuk; Hanover '47 - 2nd to Endzelins (ahead of Bogoljuboff); Eslingen '48 - two firsts". The quotes are from Wade and refer to Zengalis' success at Oldenburg '49, where he scored 12 wins, 5 draws, no losses, tied for first with Bogoljuboff (that name again) ahead of Rossolimo, Unzicker, O'Kelly and other well known players. His presence in the Northwest will help chess here."

"The editor" took it upon himself to pay a big newspaper a visit the other day. Namely, the Seattle P. I. and for the purpose of digging up more information on our new "discovery", Elmars Zengalis, the Latvian chess master who is heading for Seattle with a group of Latvian sports stars. The arrival date is not definite as yet but the little band of D.P.'s are expected around the middle of January.

Since Elmars' presence here will undoubtedly give chess a big boost it is my contention that we should do something for him, and by this I do not mean charity. Since he will need a job when he arrives, I suggest that anyone with good connections or anyone knowing of a job available, get in touch with E. Zengalis, Latvian D.P., c/o Mr. Royal Brougham, Seattle P.I. Elmars says that he would prefer an intelligent job but would not refuse any other offer. He has studied medicine and law, speaks German, Russian and English. His mother and sister are coming with him. His mother could do house work; his sister is a graduate pharmacist.

From the looks of his record our boy is one of the top masters of Europe. How about arranging a few simultaneous exhibitions for Zengalis? I know of 2 clubs that will jump at this deal. How about the rest of 'em? I imagine Elmars will be as anxious to show off his talents as we are to see them.

KOLTY SETS NEW RECORD

San Francisco, Dec. 5 --

Playing simultaneously for 12 consecutive hours, George Koltanowski broke the worlds record for the largest total number of games played in a twelve hour period.

Koltanowski played an amazing total of 257 games Sunday, Dec. 4th between the hours of 10 AM and 10 PM. The previous high was 226.

To make his performance even more outstanding, the Santa Rosa chess master lost only three and drew 16, winning 238 of the contests.

VERNON HOLMES WINS MATCH

Tacoma, Wash.

With the score standing at 4 - 4, Vernon Holmes won the deciding game of his match with C. Crain in a five-hour battle.

GONZAGA UPSETS WSC CHESS TEAM

Pullman, Wash.

Playing without the services of three top players, including school champion Malcolm Parkman, proved to be the undoing of the Washington State College chess team as they dropped a 4-6 decision to an invading Gonzaga University chess club November 20th. The "Cougars" won on the top 4 boards but lost on the last six.

Correction: The Tacoma Chess Club is located in the Carlton Hotel at 17th and Commerce, not 17th and Market as previously reported.

Matches between Tacoma and Seattle U., and Everett and Seattle were not played. The teams will meet some time this month as arranged by the team captains.

Nov. 27th, 4th round:

Tacoma, Olympia, Seattle, and the U. of W. teams performed as expected in polishing off their respective opponents. Dec. 10th and 11th saw Bellingham playing "supermen" roles in taking on four teams in one week-end. Entering the league late, they made this arrangement in order to catch up on their matches. It proved to be a "suicidal" attempt, however, as the Bells lost all four matches. Fourth round scores:

COMING EVENTS

"GOOD BYE '49" TOURNAMENT

TIME - Dec. 31st

PLACE - Seattle Chess Club

"PULLMAN SPECIAL"

Of course we all know the reason WSC lost its chess match to Gonzaga was that Malcolm "Prof" Parkman, the school champ, wasn't there. He was over in Seattle sadly watching the Huskies mop up the Cougars on the football field. What happened to the Cougars may have affected his chess play that night; at any rate, that's the only excuse he could think of at the time.

4 N-N5 B-B4?!
Wilkes-Barre - speculative,
but involving many possibilities.

5 P-Q4
Suggested by Fine in PCO.
This move stops Black's attacking move 5...BxPch which occurs after White's
5 NxBP.

5 P-Q4
Dangerous, but 5...BxP loses to 6 P-QB3!

6 BxP!
The only move which gives White an advantage. Black looks in bad shape.

6 NxQP
This allows 7 NxBP seemingly with no counter.
Does Black have something up his sleeve?

7 P-QB3
We will never know. This somewhat timid move allows
Black to consolidate.

7 N-K3
8 Q-N3
Possibly not too good because of BxPch which wins
a Pawn, but Black played:

8 NxR
9 NxN PxN
If: 9...BxPch; 10 KxB,

20 N-K5 B-N4
21 N-Q3 R-Q
22 P-K5 Q-K2
23 P-B4 BxP

REHBERG SEZ:

By the time this is published I will probably have been defeated in my fifth attempt to win the Kitsap County Championship. I'm beginning to feel like Robert Bruce of whose exploits the more cultured among you have no doubt heard. In fact, the wisdom of the ages exhibited by most of my recent opponents leads me to believe that they knew him personally.

We (Kitsap) played the Seattle Club on Nov. 26th and Kitsap came through with another character building lesson. We now have so much character that the team members all have the beginnings of halos.

Dick Allen is asking for the best alibi for losing. I have a little gem: Frank Blakefield beat me on the ferry because the vibrations of the boat moved my King's Knight Pawn from KN2 to KR2 giving my King an automatic discovered check by his Rook. Nothing I could do after that.

Was in time trouble with G. Patterson Nov. 26th, with about 3 minutes to make 9 moves. Had to resort to moving my K a couple of times to save thinking. Fortunately for me Mr. Patterson was also in a bit of "T.T." and that evened things up. That game has forced me to revise my opinions on the time limit controversy. I have always advocated a short time limit, but now I believe that 40 moves per hour is perhaps a little too fast---30 moves per hour would be more like it.

A gem of wisdom taught me by chess master Olaf Ulvestad: Always attack! This, of course, doesn't necessarily mean a King-side attack, but an attack on anything is a great help. Remember you can not win by passive resistance.

Jim Schmitt of Portland announces that his end of the proposed Portland-Kitsap radio match is ready. Our end isn't as yet, but don't give up Jim, we will be as soon as we can line up an operator. Any "hams" in the crowd?
