ATTENTION COUNTY CHAMPIONS

For the players who have won the right to participate in the Tournament of County Champions in Ellensburg, or for the player who wishes to attend, but cannot provide his own transportation, a car caravan will be set up that will hopefully bring all the Champions to participate. The success of Russel Miller's Program will only be finally judged by the attendance and support he has for this tournament. If you have a car, but would enjoy taking traveler's over the pass, or need a ride to Ellensburg, please contact Stephen L. Chase Jr. 252-8568
 4723 Mermont Drive
 Everett, Wash. 98203.

Players will be picked up in Everett at 4:30 p.m. Friday, April 14, and at 5:30 in Seattle in front of the Seattle Chess Club. If everyone does his part, this tournament can be very successful!

PLEASE NOTE: Open tournaments mean anyone who pays entry fee plus required membership fees may play. In the tournament announcements "USCF" stands for United States Chess Federation and means the event will be nationally rated as well as Northwest rated. USCF membership costs $10.00 a year for Adults and $5.00 for Jrs under age of 21 at date of expiration. With USCF membership one receives Chess Life & Review, the best national publication in the World.

WASHINGTON CHESS FEDERATION ANNUAL MEETING
MARCH 19, 1972

Seattle Chess Club, 617 S. Jackson St.

1 pm

For election of 1972-73 Officers, Treasurers report, placing matters on annual ballot. Please attend, bring your ideas for promoting chess. We need people to run for office.

The following is an overhauling of the WCF Constitution being jointly proposed by Rusty Miller and Willie Skubi. It is the substance of our current constitution brought together for the first time since 1954, so that someone can know for sure what it says without having to refer to twenty years or so of WCF Annual Meeting minutes.

As best we can we have avoided "tricks" which would upset the way things have operated in the past few years. In Article XI Section 3 there is an escape clause which will allow us to revert to our current constitution if such a "trick" was inadvertently left in.

I urge you to read this carefully, and to attend the WCF Annual Meeting with your ideas.

I hope you will support it on the ballot next month.

Willie Skubi
WCF Publicity Director

Proposed

Washington Chess Federation

Constitution

Article I Name

Section 1. The name of the organization shall be the Washington Chess Federation, a non-profit association of chess players and chess clubs in the state of Washington, U.S.A.

Article II Objective

Section 1. This organization is dedicated to the propagation of chess. In the pursuit of this objective, it may maintain a treasury, acquire property, sponsor leagues, matches, tournaments, exhibitions, educational courses, issue publication etc.

Article III Membership

Section 1. There shall be two classes of membership in the Washington Chess Federation 1) personal membership of any Washington State resident, and 2) Club memberships of any organized chess club in Washington State.

Section 2. There will be a reciprocal membership agreement between the Washington Chess Federation and the Oregon and British Columbia Chess Federations.

Article IV Management

Section 1. The control and management of the Washington Chess Federation (hereafter also known as the "WCF") and any property or monetary assets thereof shall be vested in the Board of Officers of the WCF.

Section 2. The WCF Board of Officers shall consist of those duly elected or appointed to offices established below, each officer having one vote.

Article V Offices

Section 1. The officers of the WCF shall consist of a President, Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer, Tournament Director, Distribution Director, Postal Director, Rating Director, Publicity Director, Northwest Chess Editor, Circulation Director, High School Director, College Chess Director, and Junior High and Elementary School Director. A WCF Editor's office shall exist whenever an out of state resident is holding the office of Northwest Chess Editor.

Section 2. The officers shall be nominated at the WCF Annual meeting and elected in accordance with Article VI Section IV.

Section III The term of office shall be one year from the time of election or until their successors are elected, except for the High School Director, College Chess Director and Junior High and Elementary School Chess Director, whose term of office shall be from September 1st of the year of election to the following August 31st.

Section IV. In the event of a vacancy in any office it may be filled between annual meetings by a majority vote of the Board of Officers.

Section V. Any WCF Officer may be removed from office by a 2/3rds majority vote of the Board of Officers accusing that officer of one or more serious acts of malfeasance, misfeasance or non-feasance of those duties prescribed in the WCF Constitution, by the Board of Officers, or of the usual and accustomed duties of the office.

Section VI Any major policy changes or major and unusual purchases over $100.00 made by the WCF must receive advance approval by a majority vote of the Board of Officers. Failure to comply with this section can subject an officer to removal proceedings.

Section VII The residents of those states whose state chess organization has full affiliate status with WCF (requiring all regular members to receive Northwest Chess) are eligible, provided they are members of their state organization, to run for the offices of Northwest Chess Editor, Distribution Director, Circulation Director, Ratings Director, and Postal Director, with full rights and responsibilities should they be elected, except that non-Washington resident officers may not vote on issues in the Board of Officers pertaining to internal WCF matters as defined by the WCF President.

Section VIII Regular members of those state chess organizations with full affiliate status with the WCF as defined above shall be eligible to vote in the annual mail ballot for those offices listed in Art. V sec. VII and on other issues on the ballot not pertaining to internal WCF affairs as defined by the WCF President.

Section IX. With the exceptions listed in Art. V sections VII and VIII, all candidates for WCF Offices must be WCF members and Washington State residents.

Article VI. Meetings

Section I. The annual business meeting of WCF shall be held on the 2nd or 3rd Sunday of March of each year for election of officers, acceptance of motions for amendment to this constitution etc, and review of financial accounts.

Section II Special meetings of the WCF Board of Officers may be called by majority vote of the Board of Officers. Two must be called by the President independent of any Board action, provided that the entire Board be notified of such meetings by mail, one week or more in advance of the date set.

Section III In the event that an officer is absent from a Board of Officers meeting, all officers shall be polled on each item to be voted upon, and a summary of the minutes circulated.

Section IV After the Annual WCF Meeting, all eligible WCF and affiliate members shall select by mail ballot the new officers from among those nominated, provided that write-in candidates shall be allowed provided they notify the WCF President of their intention within a week before the printing of the ballots.

Article VII Dues

Section I Dues shall be $4.00 per year for a regular adult membership and $3.00 for a regular junior membership (Junior means under 21 years of age) in the WCF.

Section II Special memberships are High School students and under $1.00 per year and family memberships $.50 where one full membership has been paid for by the household.

Section III Only regular members are eligible to vote in the annual mail ballot.

Article VIII Amendments

Section I Amendments to this constitution may be made by a majority vote of the regular WCF members and as provided for in Art V Sec VII and VIII, pursuant to a motion approved by a majority at the WCF Annual Meeting or a petition signed by 15 or more regular members.

Section II Amendments made to this constitution may amend particular sections, articles or may stand by themselves, overriding without specifically repealing elements of this constitution.

Article IX Interpretation

Section I. The Board of Officers shall have authority to interpret this constitution.

Section II. The Board of Officers shall, where doubtful situations arise, rule in favor of the broad interest of the whole membership, rather than the narrow special interests of a few.

Article X Powers

Section 1. The Board of Officers shall have the authority to break any tie which may occur during the mail balloting by majority vote, with the President casting the deciding vote in case of a tie among the officers.

Section 2. The President shall preside over all official WCF meetings and special meetings. He shall appoint committees, carry out those duties otherwise reserved for him in this constitution, and act, subject to approval by the Board of Officers, in areas not assigned to other officers.

Section 3. The Secretary shall have authority from time to time to re-organize this constitution into coherent articles and sections, taking care that in doing so the content is in no way changed, and providing that changes are approved by the Board of Officers.

Section 4. The Treasurer shall be responsible for all money handled by any part of the WCF, and may at his discretion delegate responsibility to handle WCF funds or accounts to other officers. He shall keep a full and fair set of books, submit a report at the WCF Annual Meeting, submit all Books and records to an Audit Committee or any WCF officer upon request. The Board of Officers shall have authority to regulate the activities of the Treasurer as is deemed necessary.

Section 5 The Northwest Chess Editor shall be Editor in Chief of all WCF Publications with power to appoint assistant editors and reporters.

Section 6. The Board of Officers shall have authority to establish the duties of those officers whose duties are not stated above, and to delegate additional duties to the above officers.

Article XI General Provisions

Section 1. Subscriptions to Northwest Chess to affiliated Federations are priced at $3.50 for adults per year and $2.50 for Juniors under 21 years of age per year.

Section 2. WCF Dues shall be $4.00 for adults per year, $3.00 for Juniors under 21 years of age per year, and $1.00 for high school students and below; also family memberships may be purchased for $1.00 if at least one resident is a full WCF member; provided however that only the $4.00 adult and $3.00 Junior memberships shall entitle the member to receive Northwest Chess.

Section 3. Until the day of the 1973 WCF Annual Meeting, the Board of Officers may, by majority vote, add to this constitution any feature found in the constitution it replaces which is deemed desirable and which may have been inadvertently left out, provided that the content of such an added feature cannot be changed from that which it had prior to the adoption of this constitution, and provided such additions shall expire unless formally adopted in the 1973 elections.

Section 4. Washington Open and State Championship. The Washington Chess Federation shall sponsor annually an eight man State Championship, open to state residents only, held as an eight man round robin, with players one and two from the previous year being seeded with six others chosen from Northwest Ratings list, the top six who have played in three rated events (including Puget Sound League Matches) held during the year before the championship (The Washington Open is the first event of the next year and the final event of the current year, and shall be rated before the six best rated players are selected.)

Section 5. The WCF shall sponsor an Alternates Cup Tournament during the Washington Championship.

Section 6. The WCF shall be an affiliate of the United States Chess Federation paying each year the required dues.

Section 7. The WCF shall elect each year the number of USCF Directors as allowed by the USCF.

BY TD: RICHARD PARSONS

Here are the final figures; but, as usual, things looked a lot different while the tournament was in progress. In fact, the last game to finish was Franett-Pupols, which if won by Pupols, would have secured him the title on tie-breakers! Vic was able to gain a pawn but not the victory.

Lets start at the beginning and take note first of the absence of last years champion John Braley. John expressed a lack of motivation this year, but the future could see him active again.

In Round I the favorites met, Pupols having Black. He had drawn Black against the other four top players. So in reply to McCormick's 1.P-K4 he thought at great length, not about his reply, but about how to overcome the "Black Plague" and the fact that his having to work 4-8 PM Saturday & Monday may yet make it impossible for him to complete the seven required games. After about 15 minutes he chose the Ruy Lopez defense, but on move 12 he made a horrible positional move. Fine play by Jim brought him the point. Tom Brownell of the P.I. took their picture and Stan Nas included both the game and story in the Sunday edition, to begin what was to become the best coverage given a MW chess event. They published the latest results after nearly every round and all of this was to be topped off by T.V. coverage by KING TV on the Sunday evening news. After the tournament Franett was even approached to do a morning T.V. talk-show, but he declined.

Round II saw Pupols starting his game late because he worked 4-8 PM. McCormick played strongly against Walker but missed a chance on move 25 and Johnny played very strongly the rest of the way to obtain a real fighting draw. Franett was not considered the real leader yet even though he had scored 2-0. His acid test was to begin the next day when he faced McCormick, Walker & Pupols his main rivals all in a row. Round III The big game here was Franett-McCormick, the 1970 Champ vs the 1965-69 Champ. For some reason Vic's first round loss had eliminated him from contention in everyone's mind. Jim sacrificed a pawn on move 13 to take advantage of Mike's slow development. It looked good, but the exposed Black bishop on QB2 always seemed to leave Black a move short. If Mike could break even in the next two games he looked unstoppable. Round IV Here everything went pretty much as expected. Murray pulled a new line on McCormick from the Dutch "Archives" to secure a draw which Jim could ill afford. Here KING T.V. took some footage for the evening news. The bright lights almost halted play for a few minutes, but it seemed a small price to pay in the interest of chess. Round V the last chance to stop Franett. Strangely enough, all throughout the tournament Franett's opponents had allowed him to play the slow methodical game he enjoys. His style is similar to Tarrasch or Euwe. He builds a little here a little there like a bird working on its nest, but always maintains as much of a pawn center as possible. The only player that can match him in this style is Vic, so the stage was set for the dulllest but most important game of the last four rounds. The game was a heroic struggle lasting through about four settings, the first adjournment finds Pupols allowing Mike a vital extra move for defense but still retaining some advantage. Rounds VI, VII saw the top half winning all eight games against the bottom half, no surprises. At the end of round seven there remained Franett-McCormick, Murray-Pupols and Franett-Pupols, the outcome of only the last one being in doubt. After missing his earlier chance Pupols found that the best he could do against Franett was to win a pawn at the expense of allowing strong counterplay. In a desperate bid to win Vic overreached himself at the end but Mike didn't care to press the matter as he was his with the draw and in fact he would lose it on tie breakers should he blunder. HAIL to the new CHAMPION!!!

GAMES of the Championship section will be published in this and succeeding issues with enough notes and comments to make them interesting. Till next year

The annual WCF meeting will take place at 1:00 pm on March 19. It is to be held at the Seattle Chess Club, 617 S. Jackson St.

Candidates for office include: President, Russell Miller; Vice-President, Larry Allyn; Treasurer, Herman Moya and Willie Skubi; Ratings Director, Bruce Bailey; Postal Director, Kathy Miller; Distribution, Sheri Owens; Circulation, Stuart Liddle; Publicity, Willie Skubi; Junior High, Bill Lathrop; Tournament Director, Steve Chase; College Director, Dave Collyer; Editor NWC, Russell Miller and Rob Hankinson. There are no prospects for the offices of Secretary, WCF Editor, and High School Director.

An exciting subject that is likely to be discussed at the meeting is the new computerized rating system. Bruce Bailey has developed a program that may have far reaching importance. Dependent on the success of doing northwest ratings the U. S. Chess Federation may adopt the system. This will be good news to all U. S. C. F. members. It could be of importance to Canadians also. Canada could join the U. S. to create a "North American" rating. If all this comes to pass the northwest rating will have little value.

It's your meeting. Attend if you can.

Nothing succeeds like success! I was very pleased at the fine turnout for this one day tournament, and hope that everyone had a good time. The tournament flowed quite smoothly, due mainly to the efforts of William Lathrop who kept the tournament results chart in order as the director played in the tournament. Almost all games were finished by the time limit of 30/1, and so tournament organizers might wish to take note that a time limit of 40/1 1/2 is perhaps too long for a four round event; a tournament that lasts twelve hours and starts at 10:00 is not very desirable.

Pedro Garcia put in his finest performance, winning twenty dollars for his efforts, along with Terry Hoffman from Edmonds. Both played very strong Chess; with Pedro beating Darby and McKibbin for a better finish. Eero Jaaska took $10 for Third. Top B Was David Durham who took home $10, and Kemp Harker was top C. Other prize winners were: Warren Jones, Stephen Miller, Robert Strohm, Stephen Chase, Randy Preskitt, Stephen Christopher, Ted Day, Paul Weston, Mark Davis, Bill Meyers, and Matt Dombrowsky. Fine performances were brought in by Charles Freeman and Bob Barr who played very difficult competition, and are better than the score warrants.

My thanks again to Mr. Lathrop, Mr. Christopher, Mr. Durham, for bringing as many players to help this event be as successful as it was. See you in the Suiattle River Quadrangular!

NORTHWEST RATINGS

Speaking About Ratings . . .

COMPUTERIZED RATINGS INFORMATION

by Bruce Bailey, Ratings Director

Computerized ratings in the Northwest are now a reality. I received the files from Vic Keiser on February 6, and thanks to some long hours and the invaluable assistance of Jack Love and George LeCompte I was able to convert the files to punch cards in time for this issue. It rapidly became clear to me that Vic Keiser did a tremendous job as ratings director, notwithstanding his infrequent errors. All Northwest players owe him a special vote of thanks for a labor of love well done.

The rating method my computer program uses is that described in Chess Life and Review, issue of February 1971, as amended in the C1 and R Jan. 1972 issue. This differs only slightly from Vic's procedures, mainly in the treatment of Unrated and Provisionally rated players. It does require slightly different information from Tournament Directors than some of you have been submitting, so I will state here the form of Tournament and Match reporting I will be needing.

- 1) Crosstables by players and rounds, even for round robins.
- 2) Full details of who did what to whom, not just results.
- 3) Full names of players, preferably (a strong preference) as they appear in Northwest Chess Ratings List.
- 4) Marking of players as Rated or Unrated, no special mark for Provisionals.
- 5) Legible printing, typing, or what-have-you
- 6) I do not need the results alphabetized; I would prefer the same order as the tournament wall-chart. In fact a copy of the chart will be fine. Be sure to check for errors.
- 7) The state of residence for each player.
- 8) Some special note if a player's name or state has recently changed, or if his entry in the ratings list is incorrect.

For instance: 1. Doe, John WASH UNR W2 D3 BYE
2. Doe, Mary WASH Rtd L1 BYE W3
3. Doe, Mack ORE Rtd BYE D1 L2

Thanks in advance, and apologies in advance for the foulups I will inevitably make. Keeping all the Northwest names straight is a tough job; I can promise to improve as I become more familiar with the job, but there will always be errors. I will welcome correspondence from any of you about such errors (or other rating matters), but please, if you expect a personal reply, send along a self-addressed stamped envelope.

Finally, in answer to two frequently-asked questions, special reporting forms will no longer be necessary or supplied, and the fee schedule is $1 for 2-14 players, $2 for 15-29, $3 for 30-44, and $4 for 45 and up. I must also mention the generosity of my employer, Boeing Computer services, for supplying keypunch and machine time without charge for Northwest Ratings.

16 N-B1!

A fine move, heading for KB5. Not 16P-KN5?
which would block the position and justify
Black's play.

16 P-KB4

Consistent. The alternative 16...B-R5 weakens KB5 which can't advance because QfxP opens up the position.

The Eugene Open, held on Jan. 22-23, was won by Dennis Waterman, winning over Bill Kiplinger by the slim margin of ½ tie-breaker points.

Waterman agreed to a draw in the fifth rd; (against Al Dvorshak) which guaranteed him 1st place as he was the only player with 4 points going into the 5th round.

Kiplinger topped Grisham in the 5th round for a share in 1st place money and 2nd place trophy. Waterman and Kiplinger split $104.00. 3rd place money ($24) was split by Al Dvorshak, Dave Jones, and Joe Brandenburg with Dvorshak receiving the 3rd place trophy. Dave Jones received the Junior trophy. Best 'B' money ($16) was divided by Vince Bricher and Roger Gregory. Best 'C' money ($16) was divided between Bill Meeker and Robert Bjorge. A best woman trophy was offered but we had no takers so it was decided to award the trophy as a best class C and under which was won by Bill Meeker.

All of the tournament preparations was handled by Dave Jones and Phil McCready (very successfully) with hardy support. I'm sure, from the old man: Bill thanks-for-helping-us-out Jones.

It was recently pointed out to me that the full minutes of the 1971 O.C.F. business meeting have never been published. Since I have been planning to do an article on the O.C.F. Constitution and By-Laws, I asked Karl Granat to let me include the 1971 meeting minutes in it. The Constitution as submitted by the constitutional committee to the 1968 business meeting was printed in the October, 1968 issue of Northwest Chess; however, the complete Constitution, including amendments made at the 1968 meeting has never been published, nor have all the current by-laws ever been published in one place. Below is the complete Constitution and current by-laws.

CONSTITUTION OF THE OREGON CHESS FEDERATION

I

Name. This organization shall be a non-profit association known as the OREGON CHESS FEDERATION.

II

Purpose. The FEDERATION shall develop, encourage, promote and coordinate chess activities. To this purpose the FEDERATION may represent its members and function in liaison with other organizations and shall annually conduct contests to determine the Oregon Chess Champion and the Oregon Junior Chess Champion. The OREGON CHESS FEDERATION shall be a permanent affiliated member of the United States Chess Federation.

III

Membership. At its annual meeting, the FEDERATION shall prescribe such categories and requirements of membership as may be deemed appropriate for the following year.

IV

Annual Meeting. The members shall meet each year during the Labor Day weekend at the site of the Oregon Open Chess Tournament for the transaction of FEDERATION business. The meeting shall be convened and conducted by the President in accordance with Roberts Rules of Order (Rev.) insofar as these rules do not conflict with this Constitution. No quorum shall be required and any attending member may vote upon all matters before the meeting. At this meeting the following officers shall be elected by a plurality of those attending and voting: a President, a Vice-President, and a Secretary-Treasurer. The Executive Committee shall have the power to reset the meeting date and place for the annual meeting should such a change become necessary.

V

President. The President shall serve until his successor is elected and qualified. He shall represent the FEDERATION and preside at its meetings. He shall appoint the members of the Tournament Committee, successors to elected offices becoming vacant and all other committees and persons he deems appropriate to accomplish FEDERATION purposes between annual meetings.

VI

Vice-President. The Vice-President shall succeed to the office of President upon its vacancy and may act for the President in his absence, illness or inability to act. The Vice-President shall function as Oregon editor and correspondent for publications in the Northwest.

VII

Secretary-Treasurer. The Secretary-Treasurer shall keep the minutes of the annual meeting, shall keep a list of current members of the FEDERATION, shall collect, disburse and be responsible for all FEDERATION funds, and shall provide an accounting thereof at the annual meeting.

VIII

Executive Committee. Between annual meetings, the business of the FEDERATION may be transacted by an executive committee composed of the foregoing elected officers meeting upon call of the President.

IX

Tournament Committee. The Tournament Committee shall consist of at least three members appointed by the President; at least one of the members shall reside South of the 45th Parallel at at least one of the members shall be under the age of 21 years. This committee shall provide for the Oregon Chess Championship and the Oregon Junior Chess Championship contests, shall compile a list of scheduled dates for chess activities, may provide technical and promotional assistance for chess activities, and may perform such other tasks as may be assigned by the FEDERATION or the President.

Amendments. This Constitution may be amended by two-thirds vote of those attending and voting at the annual meeting.

"BY-LAWS" -- MOTIONS CURRENTLY IN EFFECT

Passed 9/2/68 -- The method for qualifying for any of the Oregon Championships will be decided by the Tournament Committee.

Passed 9/2/68 -- The FEDERATION supports the right of tournament entrants to appeal contested decisions of tournament directors.

Passed 9/69 -- The FEDERATION will set up a reciprocal agreement with the B.C.C.F. to recognize each others memberships as qualifying for tournament entry.

Passed 9/5/71 -- The dues for 1971-1972 will be $.50 plus FEDERATION cost of subscription to Northwest Chess. If one family member has joined, paying full membership costs, then other family members in the household may join the FEDERATION for $.50 per year. Also, anyone belonging to a chess club which has affiliation with the OREGON CHESS FEDERATION (by paying full $4.00 per year dues) may join for $.50.

Passed 9/5/71 -- Any individual or organization desiring to sponsor a chess tournament in Oregon may approach the Tournament Committee of the FEDERATION. The Tournament Committee, after considering location, entry fee, prize fund, and other considerations will make a recommendation to the officers of the FEDERATION. The officers will act on this recommendation, either accepting or rejecting it. Final say in the disbursement of funds rests with the officers of the OREGON CHESS FEDERATION.

Passed 9/7/70 -- Due to the uncertainty concerning the Oregon Open that occurred this year, the FEDERATION will request written bids to hold the Oregon Open from any interested individuals or organizations. Said bids to be in the hands of the President by May 1. Said bids must include exact location, entry fee, guaranteed prize fund, and name of proposed tournament director. The Tournament Committee will meet in May and award the bid to party they feel will provide the best tournament. If the Portland Chess Club should submit a bid, special consideration will be given to their bid since they have sponsored this tournament for so many years. The above motion was continued for 1972 at the meeting of the FEDERATION on 9/5/71.

The above Constitution and "By-Laws" are the rules which govern the O.C.F. and its actions. It is generally a good constitution; however, there are specific areas which I feel should be clarified. As I interpret Article II, the O.C.F. can not, by itself, sponsor any chess activities other than the two specifically mentioned. I suggest the membership consider amending Article II to read "Federation shall develop, encourage, promote, sponsor, and coordinate chess activities. This could be amended at the next annual meeting. This would allow the O.C.F. to sponsor a Chess to the People program, a series of state wide Junior chess tournaments, and perhaps even the U.S. Open at a later date. The officers of the O.C.F. feel that the membership desires that the O.C.F. take an active part in tournament organization. Since the constitution does not allow for direct sponsorship of tournaments by the O.C.F., its officers have formed a separate organization, the "Oregon Chess Club", which will sponsor events which the O.C.F. cannot. We have already sponsored two one-day tournaments in the Portland area and will soon be sponsoring other events throughout the state. If the amendment to Article II suggested above were passed, it would no longer be necessary to have such a secondary organization.

ENIGMAS OF THE CAMBRIDGE SPRINGS

By S. Rosenberg

Translated from "64" by Dan Scoones

The history of the Queen's Gambit development system 1. d4 d5 2. c4 e6 3. Nc3 Nf6 4. Bg5 Nbd7 5. Nf3 c6 6. e3 Qa5 is so complicated and contradictory that it will be appropriate to dwell on one incident, which took place nearly 80 years ago.

Nurnberg 1896... Here a great international tournament was taking place with the participation of almost all the chess stars of the time. On the eve of the last round only two participants had practically assured themselves of first place -- they were Lasker and Maroczy. Unclear remained the question of third prize, for which challenged Steinitz, Pillsbury and Tarrasch, all having an equal number of points. The first two were playing each other, and the chances of Tarrasch looked significantly higher, as he had to meet the master Albin, who was evidently below his class. Rumour had it that Pillsbury, having an interest in the outcome of this meeting, provided Albin with a "secret opening weapon".

As material stimulation to Tarrasch's opponent was promised, in the event of a win, 10 pounds from Steinitz and Pillsbury, and half that sum in case of a draw. Besides that, at the same time the young American provided Albin with a "secret weapon". It is interesting, that all of this was well-known not only to the participants but also to the tournament committee. Finally the game began...

Tarrasch-Albin

| 2. c4 | e6 | 5. e3 | c6 |
| 3. Nc3 | Nf6 | 6. Bd3 | Qa5 |

And here is the surprise! Only it remains a mystery, whether Albin simply muddled up the moves, or that up to the time of this game it was still not known that it is better to first develop the Queen's knight.

| 15. Be2 | Qe5 | 24. Kg2? | ... |

It is perfectly incomprehensible, why White refrained from the solicited 24. f4. Probably he didn't like the reply 24...Bd4, but then the continuation 25. e5 Ng4 26. B:h7+ Kh8 27. Kg2 gives him a very strong attack. Instead of that, Tarrasch openly provokes his opponent into sacrificing a piece.

| 25. f4?! | B:f4 | 28. Qc3 | Rad8 |
| 26. gf | N:f4+ | 29. Rgl | ... |

In the tournament bulletin S. Tarrasch evaluates this position extremely optimistically, and quotes the following beautiful variation: 29...b5 30. Nc5 Q:c5 31. R:g7+ Kh8 32. Qf6!! R:d3+ 33. Kg4! h5+ 34. Kh4 and White wins.

Alas, all of this beauty is by no means compulsory for Black. By the simple move 29...Rd4! Albin could have placed his formidable opponent in a hopeless position. The only defence is

30. b3, as 30. Bc4 loses immediately to 30... Ng5+ 31. R:g5 Q:e4+ 32. Kg3 Qf4+ 33. Kh3 Qh4+ 34. Kg2 Q:g5+ etc. Now Black develops a very strong attack: 30...Qf6+ 31. Ke3 Qh6+ 32. Kf3 Rfd8. For example: 33. Rcd1 Qh3+ 34. Rg3 Qh5+ winning a rook, or 33. Nb2 Qf6+ 34. Ke3 Nf4 35. Rgd1 Nd5+ 36. ed Re8+ 37. Kd2 Q:f2 mate. Albin however played which allowed Tarrasch to defend and gradually realise his material advantage. Pillsbury meanwhile defeated Steinitz and shared third and fourth place with Tarrasch.

29. ... Nd4+?

In later tournaments the opening system with the development of the queen on a5 was known under the name "Pillsbury's attack". Here is a partial list of large competitions, where it achieved the right of "citizenship": Budapest 1896, Berlin 1897, Cologne 1898, and a very large international tournament at Vienna, 1898.

In his time A. Alekhine held the following opinion on the matter of opening priority: "The important thing is not who made the move first, but rather through whom the move first gained the interest of the chess world, that is the experts who first analysed it through and gave it real significance". It is difficult now to dig up the reasons why, after a tournament in the small American town of Cambridge Springs, held at the beginning of this century, more precisely in 1904, the variation acquired a new name -- the "Cambridge Springs Defence". Possibly, in this way they wanted to honour the memory of the genial Pillsbury, who made his last appearance in this tournament.

However, it is strange that Pillsbury himself consistently avoided applying his patent in tournament practice. All the searching directed to find one (!) game where he played Black with this variation, has not been crowned with success, although as White he had to fight against his own system (Pillsbury-Janowski, Budapest 1896, Pillsbury-Marco, Cambridge Springs, 1904).

Such is the historical side of the matter. Gradually Pillsbury's counterattack acquired full recognition -- it entered the repertoire of Capablanca, Alekhine, Bogolyubov and was occasionally used by Lasker and other eminent chess players of the first half of the 20th century.

The idea, associated with the thrust of the queen, shapes a large opening system. After the moves parrying the threat of Nf6-e4. Despite this, Teichmann in two games of the Cambridge Springs tournament answered all the same

7. ... Ne4!?

Marshall continued 8. cd, and here, as was shown by S. Tarrasch in "Modern Chess Games", the continuation 8...N:g5 9. h4 Ne4 10. Nc:e4 ed 11. Nc3 Bd6 gives Black excellent play. Schlechter attempted to strengthen the variation: 8. Nc:e4 de 9. Bh4 Bb4 10. a3 B:d2+ 11. Q:d2 Q:d2+ 12. K:d2, and obtained a slight advantage.

The move 7...Ne4, which for some reason has not been given a place in contemporary opening manuals, was met in a game of the last, XXXIX championship of the USSR, Platonov-Vaganian.

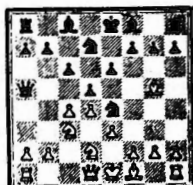

White continued 8. Nd:e4 de 9. Bf4 Bb4 10. Qb3 and after 10...e5 11. de Nc5 12. Qc2 Bf5 13. Be2 Nd3+ Black obtained an excellent position. Possibly still stronger was 9...e5! and if 10. de N:e5 11. Qd4 f6 12. B:e5 (12. Q:e4? Bf5! 13. Qd4 Rd8) fe 13. Q:e4 Bb4 then Black has a dangerous initiative for the pawn (shown by I. Zaitsev).

In the match Capablanca-Alekhine, where the Cambridge Springs Defence was often met, the Cuban grandmaster also employed the quiet continuation 7. Nd2. Alekhine refrained from the sharp 7...Ne4 and played 7...Bb4, after which the struggle takes on a manoeuvring character with approximate equality. In following years White started to employ in reply to 6...Qa5 the immediate exchange of pawns in the centre, which Black has to answer by capturing with the knight, since otherwise he would arrive at the Carlsbad variation with a misplaced queen.

There came into practice also the original counterattack of Becker, giving unrestricted scope for chess fantasy.

A large controversy arose around the 25th game of the match Alekhine-Euwe in 1935. The world champion played White.

This position arose after the moves

- | | | | |
|--------|-----|--------|------|
| 1. d4 | d5 | 5. Bg5 | Nbd7 |
| 2. c4 | c6 | 6. e3 | Qa5 |
| 3. Nf3 | Nf6 | 7. cd | N:d5 |
| 4. Nc3 | e6 | 8. Qd2 | N7b6 |

which is Becker's counterattack. Preparing for the match, Alekhine decided to play here 9. Rcl with the intention of sacrificing a pawn: 9...N:c3 10. bc Nd5 11. Bc4! as quiet play is disadvantageous for White, for example 11. Kdl? Ba3 12. Rc2 f6 with advantage to Black (Levenfish-Euwe, Leningrad 1934) Now, on the other hand, Black can win a pawn in two ways: 11...Ba3 12. Rbl N:c3 13. Rb3 b5 14. Bd3 b4 or the immediate 11...N:c3. In the first case White, for a small material loss, has the possibility of obtaining an unpleasant initiative in the centre and on the King's side. The world champion viewed the second continuation as the main line. The point is that Euwe, in one of the magazines, published an analysis of the position arising after 11...N:c3 12. O-O Bb4. The Dutch grandmaster arrived at the further variation 13. a3! Q:a3 14. Ral Ne4 15. Qe2 Qc3 16. Rfcl N:g5 17. R:c3 N:f3+ 18. Q:f3 B:c3 leading to Black's advantage. However this analysis turns out to be "full of holes". In a little-known game Stahlberg-Rellstab, played shortly before the match, there followed 17. N:g5! Qd2 18. Qf3 and wins. And now, preparing to catch Euwe in the variation, Alekhine at the very last moment noticed that after 11. Bc4 N:c3 12. O-O Black has the intermediate move 12...b5 and on the retreat of the Bishop, b5-b4 with an extra pawn.

Thus the move 11. Bc4 (as we shall see, undeservedly) was removed from the "agenda" and substituted was the more modest 11. Bd3. Undeservedly, because White is still far from exhausting all the possibilities languishing in this intricate position.

Instead of retreating the bishop, which Alekhine thought necessary, deserving attention is 13. d5!?, with great complications:

a) 13...ed 14. B:d5 cd 15. R:c3 Bb4 16. Q:d5 O-O 17. Q:a8 B:c3 18. Be7 Re8 19. Qc6 or 17...Be6 18. Qe4 B:c3 19. Be7 Re8 20. Ng5. In both cases the chances are on White's side.

b) 13...ed 14. B:d5 Ne2+ 15. Q:e2 cd 16. e4! d4 17. N:d4 Bd7 18. Rfd1 with an advantage in development for White, along with material equality;

c) 13...bc 14. d6! Ne2+ 15. Q:e2 B:d6 16. Q:c4 with the initiative for the pawn.

d) 13...bc 14. d6 f6 15. Bh4 Ne2+ 16. Q:e2 B:d6 17. Q:c4 and White retains pressure.

e) 13...Bb4 14. a3! Q:a3 15. Ral or 14...Ne4 15. Qd4 with advantageous complications for White.

The game Alekhine-Euwe continued

- | | | | |
|----------|------|---------|------|
| 9. Bd3 | N:c3 | 12. O-O | Bb4 |
| 10. bc | Nd5 | 13. a3 | Q:a3 |
| 11. Racl | N:c3 | 14. Ral | Qb3 |

Here the world champion committed an error, playing 15. Bc2?, after which Black could have obtained a winning position by means of 15...Ne4! 16. Qd1 Qd5 (demonstrated by A. Alekhine).

Modern theory examines the diagrammed position and considers the best continuation of the struggle for both sides the following variation: 15. Ne5! O-O 16. Bc4 Ne4 17. Qe2 Qc3 18. Racl Qd2 19. g4 N:g5 20. Rcd1 Qc3 with a draw by repetition of moves. Besides that, possible is the cunning move 15. Rfcl as in the game Krantz-Lundin from the Swedish championship of 1964. The continuation was 15...Na2 16. Q:a2 Q:d3 17. d5 ed? 18. Qb2 with a very strong attack. Instead of 17...ed?, necessary was 17...O-O with unclear play.

Alekhine, in the notes to his game with Euwe pointed out the correct move -- 15. Ne5, considering that 15...Ne4 16. Qe2 N:g5 17. Rabl Qc3 18. Nc4 leads to an obvious advantage for White. It seems to us, however, that the position of the following diagram deserves detailed analysis.

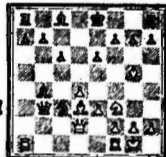

White's threats are 19. Rfcl or 19. f4. Bad, of course is 18...b5? 19. Rfcl bc 20. R:c3 B:c3 because of 21. Bc2 with the threats of Q:c4 and h4 or 19...Q:c4+ 20. R:c4 bc due to 21. R:c4. The best move is 18...Ba3! and White gets nothing now from either 19. f4 b5 20. N:a3 Q:a3 21. fg Qd6 or 19. Bc2 b5; Stronger is 19. Qd1 and after 19...b5 20. Rb3 Qcl 21. Nd6+ Kd7! possible are two ramifications:

22. Qe2 Q:f1+ 23. Q:f1 B:d6 24. f4 f5 25. fg Rf8 -- Black holds the defence,

22. Qh5 Q:f1+ 23. K:f1 B:d6 24. Q:g5 b4 25. Q:g7 Rf8 -- and the position is extremely complicated.

At the present time the chess world has turned away from the Cambridge Springs Defence and it is almost never encountered in grandmaster practice. Possibly, adherents of the Queen's Gambit are scared of the exchange of pawns in the centre, which White can carry out even before 6...Qa5.

I would also like to draw the attention of the readers to several interesting facts, in connection with which possibly arises the question of expediency of specification of the name of the opening system, described in the present article.

In the first place, in his time Em. Lasker considered the name Cambridge Springs Defence incorrect, about which he wrote in his journal "Lasker's Chess Magazine" in 1906. In the second place, in 1892, when Pillsbury was still only beginning his chess career, in the U. S. A. the following game was played. It was published that same year in the magazine "London Chess Fortnightly". We present it in conclusion of our article.

BC BULLETIN

MIXED RATINGS ROUND ROBINS, S.F.U. Feb.26-27th

From the beginning, one could tell that this was going to be a strange tournament. In the first round, the games BJORNSON - HILL, and EDIE - HANKINSON followed LUBOVICH - PORTISCH, PaIma 1971 to the eleventh move, when both White players sac'd. Lubovich fared better. Another strange thing was section A:

1. Dale BJORNSON	1820	X	1	0	1	1	1	4-1
2. Paul BROWN	1908	0	X	1	1	1	+	3 1/2-1 1/4
3. Alan HILL	2206	1	1	X	0	1	+	3 1/2-1 1/4
4. Bill VAN CAMP	2002	0	0	1	X	1	1	3-2
5. Bob DUSAIG	UMR.	0	0	0	X	+		1-4
6. Allan FORRER	1642	0	-	0	-	X		0-5

Yes, friends, fourth rated Dale Bjornson won the tournament! And to make it even more embarrassing for Hill, Paul Brown, Harper-like, granted Hill a draw in a completely and utterly won game. It only goes to show that man does not live by rating points alone. The other sections, excepting C, back this up, as the Experts finished 2nd!

B)

1. David HLADEK	1983	X	1	1	1	1	+	4 1/2-1 1/2

5. Allan LI	1822	0	0	-	1	X	-	1-4
6. I. GANAPATHY	1667	0	0	0	-	-	X	0-5

Unfortunately, there were several drop-outs, which detracted from the tournament, which proved to be a refreshing change from the usual Swiss.

For those of you who have not experienced a tournament at Simon Fraser, the consensus is that the playing site is the finest in B.C., with a large room, good light, and a cafeteria that serves good but economical food. The B.C. OPEN, and the LOWER MAINLAND OPEN will be held at S.F.U. How about it? Participate!

All those who wish to play speed chess....

are invited to the VANCOUVER YMCA CHESS CLUB 655 Burrard

EVENT: Speed Tournaments

TIME: 8:00-10:30 REGISTRATION begins at 7:30

ENTRY FEE: $5.00 (Fifty cents)

DATE: First Friday of every month

PRIZES: 1st-40% 2nd-30% 3rd-20% 4th-10%

Each player will receive an amount of time proportional to his rating. The lower rated player will always have 5 minutes. The higher rated player will have 1 minute less than his opponent for every 150 NW rating points that he is higher. The least time a player may have is 1 minute. The pairing system to be used shall depend on the number of players participating. Sets are provided. Please bring your own clock! If you do not, your entry into the tournament may be denied due to an insufficient number of clocks!

THE WEST COAST SUMMER CHESS ACADEMY

is accepting applications from qualified instructors to teach various aspects of these two-week courses:

Basic Chess (Beginner to Class B)

Intermediate Chess (Class B to Expert)

Altho precise arrangements are not fully confirmed, the Academy plans to conduct its first two courses during the period 14-25 August in TACOMA, WASHINGTON.

Applications should include age, teaching experience, chess ratings, any other qualifications, and acceptable minimal salary.

Swindle!

by Brian Potter

In this game I easily parried my opponents opening strategy but succumbed to his 'go for broke' attempt to keep the position alive. A passive move at a crucial point made the win technically difficult. With a couple of friky horses galloping around my de-pawned K side I had enough forks to start a restaurant.

| 7 | B-N5 | N-B3 |
| 8 | Q-Q2 | R-K1 |
| 9 | P-KR4 | |

A premature demonstration which causes Black no problems. 9 P-KR3 or 9 O-O seem better to me.

A reaction designed to prevent P-R5

- | | | |
|----|-------|-------|
| 10 | O-O-O | N-N5 |
| 11 | QR-B1 | P-KR3 |
| 12 | B-K3 | |

BxN was more or less forced

R-R3 was necessary

| 15 | BxB | NxN |
| 16 | P-K4 | RxB |
| 17 | K-N1 | P-QB3 |

Waiting until a rook moved would have gained a tempo.

- | | | |
|----|------|------|
| 18 | RxN | Q-R4 |
| 19 | P-R5 | |

Whites only hope is to mix things up a bit.

R-K3

After 19...P-KN4 20 NxP, PxN 21 QxP White has some threats.

- | | | |
|----|------|-----|
| 20 | PxP | PxP |
| 21 | RxP! | |

I considered this possibility but felt there was nothing to it.

- | | | |
|----|-----|-------|
| 22 | QxB | BxR |
| | | Q-B2? |

Although the double exchange up Black cannot afford to play passively. This move allows White to transfer his QN to the K side and thus create awkward threats. An easily winning line would be 22...R-B2 followed by the advance of the Q side pawns P-QR3, P-QN4 etc.

- | | | |
|----|------|-------|
| 23 | N-N5 | R-B3 |
| 24 | N-Q1 | Q-N2 |
| 25 | Q-R3 | R-K1 |
| 26 | N-K3 | R-B7? |

Playing for a win I overlooked that 26...R-B5 27 N-K6, Q-R2 28 NxR, PxN wins and if 27 N-N4, RxN holds the game.

- | | | |
|----|------|-------|
| 27 | N-N4 | RxP?? |
|----|------|-------|

A blunder which loses quickly. The only move was 27...R-B5 28 N-R6ch, K-B1 29 P-K3, R-B3 30 N-N4, R-B2 31 N-B6, R-B2 (not R-K2, Q checks and wins) and a win is problematic.

- | | | |
|----|------|-------|
| 28 | Q-B1 | RxPch |
| 29 | KxR | R-KB1 |
| 30 | Q-R3 | |

A nice move which re-establishes the threats and against which there is no hope.

- | | | |
|----|-----------|---------|
| 31 | N-R6ch | Q-QB2 |
| 32 | N(6)-B7ch | K-R1 |
| 33 | N-K6ch | K-N2 |

Wayne conducted the attack nicely after the atrocious opening. I was so upset over this loss that I gave up chess for about the fifth time. Do me a favour, Wayne. Next time you want to pull a swindle like that, pick somebody else.

AND TOURNAMENT DIRECTION:
"SORRY, I'M ONLY THE TOURNAMENT DIRECTOR"

By MARTIN E. MORRISON, Member,
USCF Tournament Director Certification Committee

Questions and comments from readers on chess laws and tournament direction are welcomed. Contact the columnist at P.O. Box 1622, Oakland, CA 94604; (415) 582-1973.

One of the most important factors in the staging of a successful tournament is a cooperative relationship between the director and the players. As players, we all understand what we require of the director, but it is not often that the director's side of the story is told. In a departure from my usual analysis of chess laws, therefore, I present in this column a satirical view of a tournament from the director's perspective.

Another tournament over. While I take a few minutes' well-deserved rest amidst the debris left by over 100 tournament players (I never cease to be amazed at the amount of paper, coke bottles, take-out bags, coffee cups, etc., left behind after a day's play), I once again feel the urge to give the players an instant replay of the past two days--from the eyes of the tournament director. Lest there be those who think this some odd form of self-comiseration, I should point out that in a few weeks I shall eagerly return to direct yet another. Who knows, perhaps after reading the following caricature, a few players may even make the next tournament a little easier on us both.

Our director, skipping breakfast and lugging to the car the varied paraphernalia necessary to stage the affair, arrives bright and early at the tournament site. The bulletin did say registration begins at 9:00 a.m., didn't it? The only arrival so far seems to be an elderly player who was already in town yesterday visiting some friends and had to stay overnight in a nearby hotel. Time passes. A few more players saunter in, but it is only fifteen minutes to the close of registration. Where are the rest? It never fails: here come the last 75, all to be registered in fifteen minutes. They must not have wanted to waste any time by coming earlier. Haste must also explain this registration card: "J. Smith, 2500 Rose." Mr. Smith will wonder later why his prize check never arrived--without city, state, or ZIP code.

It is now time to say a few words to the players before Round I. Our director apologizes for the delay (caused by the number of last-minute entrants, and about five more players who didn't even make the deadline). The first round pairings are read once and repeated. In no time a crowd of players inundates our director to ask for another recitation of their pairings. It seems they didn't hear the first two readings.

Two minutes later one of the players asks why the wall charts aren't up yet (as if the director had a host of good fairies to do all the work with a wave of their wands).

Later, the players begin to report orally their game results. Some seem not to have heard our director's request at the players' meeting for signed score sheets to indicate results. They will wonder why errors creep into the wall charts and why none of their games appear in the tournament books.

Now for the first time our director is asked the question he will hear at least 200 times during the course of the tournament: "When is the next round?" Perhaps the player didn't notice the large blackboard in front of him which is posted in capital letters: ROUND II 2:00 P.M. A number of players make it a point to ask our director, now busily preparing the pairings for the next round, the same question. He politely answers their questions; the pairings will be delayed only another ten minutes while he answers.

Our director is called over to a table where two players are arguing loudly over a position. Other players nearby are obviously annoyed at the distraction. The same two players in a later round will complain that two players nearby are arguing loudly over a position.

Next day the first round of the day gets under way. Our director has to explain to five angry players why they do not have games because their opponents have evidently withdrawn without notification. The rest of the day goes well. Only one game remains; it is a dead draw, but the players insist on continuing. Our director dutifully stays an extra hour, until, with only one king each, the players finally agree to a draw.

A few players ask why the prizes are so low. After our director explains that the rental of the hall alone is $50 a day (they look surprised; haven't they heard of inflation?) and that none of the entry fees goes to him ("Why do you do it then?" they ask. "Just crazy, I suppose," he answers), they seem satisfied, but give a pitying look. After all, who would want to be Registrar/Organizer/Bookkeeper/Custodian/Equipment Manager/Tournament Director, all for free?

Notwithstanding all this, our director will return to direct another tournament in a few weeks. It is amazing how far, at the end of a tournament, a handshake from some grateful player will go.

The Brilliancy Brilliancy Prize

by Jonathan Berry

The Brilliancy Prize March

This month's 'Brilliances' are by Bruce Harper, a second year Political Science student at the University of British Columbia. Bruce seems to have learned his lessons very well, applying the technique that the Russians used to Blockade Berlin after World War II. Although the Russians were hardly successful, Bruce successfully prevents any 'airlift' operations, and achieves complete strangulation.

In case you're wondering why your game hasn't appeared, it is probably because you haven't sent it in! Of the ones which have been sent in, and haven't appeared, about half haven't been written up, and another half have not passed the rigorous editorial standards of our Editor, the noted R Hankinson. All will be revealed in the end!

VIII Modern Benoni Defence

White: Bruce Harper
Black: Bob Irwin

1 d4 Nf6 3 e5 e6
2 c4 e5
The 'Modern' Benoni, which, since the advent of Benko's 'Gambit', has become much less popular. In case you don't know Benko's Gambit is 3... b5
4 Nc3 ed5 7 Bd3 Bg7
5 od5 d6 8 Nf3? Bg7
6 e4 g6 ...

Normally after 7 Bd3, white plays 8 Nge2, followed by f3 and O-O, as in the famous game, Penrose-Tal. If white puts the Noon f3 the B should go to e2. Now black should play 8... Bg4.

8 ... O-O? 10 Nd2 b6
9 O-O? R-K1?

Now pinning the N on f3 is impossible, so black needs another way of activating the QB. Now white begins to amass a large initiative in the centre.

11 Re1 Ng4 12 h3 Ne5
Interesting here is the sacrifice 12... N:f2? 13 K:f2 Qh4ch 14 Kgl Bg4!, which leads to unclear complications. It is probably not quite sound, but would give black good practical chances.

13 Be2 f5? Much better here was Ba6!, trying to take advantage of the weak white squares in white's camp. eg 14 f4? Nd3 15 Bd3 Bd3 16 Nf3 o4, and black has the better game. Now black's pieces must scurry back in retreat.

14 f4 Nf7 15 Bf3 Re4?
White was not threatening 16 e5 (de5 17 fe5 Ne5 18 Re5 Be5 19 d6 Bd4ch 20 Kh1 Qh4! 21 Ne2 Qf2, and black is winning). In view of this, fe4 is a weak move, because it allows white to harmoniously develop his attack. 15... Qb4 is better, forcing white to defend the 'f' pawn with Nf1, or some such move.

16 Nd:e4 Bf5 19 e5 b5
17 g4 Bc4 20 Bg4 Nb6
18 N:e4 N:d7 21 Rb1 Nc8?

This move is difficult to understand, but black's position is quite bad anyway. There is no good way of preventing the exchange of black-bound bishops.

22 b4 o4 24 Ke2 Ne7
23 Bb2 Qb6ch 25 B:g7 Resigns?
True, after 25... K:g7 26 Qd2, white has an overwhelming position, but to resign here seems somewhat premature.

IX Modern Benoni Defence

White: Bruce Harper
Black: Daniel Soones

1 c4 Nf6 6 e4 g6
2 Nc3 e6 7 Bd3 Bg7
3 d4 c5 8 Nf3 O-O
4 d5 ed5 9 O-O Re8
5 od5 d6 10 Nd2 Na6

So far, the same as game VIII Black's tenth, ...Na6 attempts to get in ...Nc7, and an eventual ...B5

11 Re1 Nc7 Also possible is Ng4, for example 12 h3 Ne5 13 Be2 (B:a6) Nb4, and black has good play against the weak white squares.

12 h3 a6 14 Nc4 Rb8
13 e4 b6 15 Bf4 Bf8

The position is quite tense. Despite the constricted nature of black's position, white can neither prevent ...b5 nor play e5 himself, so he fortifies his game against the black 'break' on the queenside.

16 Qd2 b5 18 Na5 Bd7
17 ab5 ab5 19 f3 Ra8?

A blunder, which loses immediately. A move was ...o4 20 Bf1 Nh5 21 Bh2 Ra8, with complicated play. White would maintain a slight advantage

20 Nb7 Qb8 23 B:d3 Qb6?
21 N:d6 R:a1 24 B:o7 Q:o7
22 R:a1 B:d3 25 N:b5 Resigns

CHESS FOR FUN!

A NEW KIND OF CHESS PROBLEM

by

Brian Potter

Diligent readers of Northwest Chess have no doubt noticed that from time to time the odd typographical error creeps into game scores. White plays 31. P-Q7! Alas, there is no pawn on the Queen file or on the sixth rank. Or sometimes one sees 25. B-R6 leaving some question as to what was played where exactly. Of course, the thread can usually be picked up later when it is apparent that the Knight must have gone to K2 on move 5 and not B3 otherwise 7. N-N3 is impossible. But I don't mind confessing that one or two recent games have floored me and I've given them up in disgust.

This gave me the idea of deliberately messing up a score so that practice could be gained in the not inconsiderable art of deciphering unintelligible games. This should prove invaluable to anybody called upon to determine the last sixteen moves played in terrible time trouble and all you have to go on is a cross between the Rosetta Stone and the Theory of Relativity in Mandarin.

The following score has been doctored a little here and there and absolutely no responsibility will be taken for the subsequent mental stability of those foolish enough to try to play it through. Anyone who does fight his way to the end will be rewarded by a nice King hunt replete with the necessary fireworks culminating in a two rook advantage for the loser. Bon Voyage!?

And now, presenting for your enjoyment, the BRILLIANCY PRIZE GAME from the Experts Open.

Event was held at CWSC at Ellensburg. It was setup on the spur of moment, about 1 week in advance. One of reasons for holding it was to get the high school students in Ellensburg area Northwest Rated. Good idea that did not work. Only one appeared to play and he was late. We were able to have High School Section USCF rated also. Very low entry fee was charged so only section winners received prizes, USCF memberships. Event directed by Russell W. Miller, organized by Dave Collyer and Kip Poyser. R. Miller

 PRACTICE #2-1. N-Q2

ALMOST FORGOT TO MENTION, THE SOURCE FOR BOTH PRACTICE PROBLEMS THIS MONTH IS KOLTANOWSKI. FOR THE MAIN PROBLEM, WE HAVE NUMBER TWO IN A SERIES OF FOUR ORIGINALS BY DAVID L. BROWN OF ROCKFORD, ILLINOIS. THE JANUARY PROBLEM BY KERES WAS SORT OF A "TOUGHIE". ONLY RUOTSALAINEN AND ALLYN, WASHINGTON'S DYNAMIC DUO, CAME THROUGH WITH THE CORRECT SOLUTION. WITH BOTH SOLUTIONS TO PRACTICE #1 WERE: BARR AND ALLYN OF WA., AND NALEPA OF PA. YOURS TRULY HAS COME UNDER A BIT OF WELL-MEANING CRITICISM CONCERNING MY PUBLICATION OF COOKS. I HAVE JUST TRIED TO FAMILIARIZE MY READERS WITH THEM. TRUE, THEY ARE NOT TRUE PROBLEMS, BUT THEY ARE A REALITY, AND SHOULD BE DEALT WITH AS SUCH. A FAILURE TO TREAT THEM WOULD NOT BE REALISTIC, FOR THERE ARE ALWAYS THORNS AMONG THE ROSES IN PROBLEM COMPOSING AND SOLVING. THOMPSON OF WA. HAD ONE SOLUTION TO PRACTICE #1. CORRECT WITH PRACTICE #2 WERE: BARR, THOMPSON, HAUFF, AND ALLYN OF WA., AND NALEPA OF PA. THE DEADLINE FOR THESE THREE WILL BE APRIL 10. PLEASE HAVE ALL SOLUTIONS IN THE MAIL BY THAT DATE.
