NORTHWEST CHESS JUNE 50¢ 1973

CLEVELAND HIGH (PORTLAND) SCORES 22-10 AT NATIONALS !!

Although only a half a point from first place, the CHS chess team finished in a four way tie for third place dur-ing the National High School Championships, held May 4-7 in Chicago. Final team scores were determined by the best four scores of each Cleveland player.

The team qualified for the tournament when it captured first place in the Northwest Championships which were held in March.

The six teammates were accompanied by Mr. Johnnie Brown, science teacher, and competed against 69 of the best high school teams from all sections of the country. The team won $75 and a trophy.

Gary Ward, senior, who was first board on the team, fin-ished with five and one half out of eight points.

Freshman Mark Mackenzie

finished first out of 150 unrated players in the nation, and also had the highest score on the CHS team. Mackenzie won six out of eight games.

"I think Gary Ward's and Gary Carnese's accomplishments in the last round won us our place in the tourna-ment," commented Mackenzie about his fellow teammates.

Other members of the chess team include seniors Dave Wong, Robert Cohn, Gary Carnese, and junior Robert Ankenev.

"I don't think we believed we were going to do as well as we did in the tournament. Mark Mackenzie was probably our most outstanding member the team." expressed on Ward.

Wong exclaimed, "The trip was exhausting; altogether, I'm sure Mr. Brown had the best time of all!"

AWARD WINNING CHS chess team members proudly display their third place troppy from the National High School Championship held Wong and Gary Ward, Mark Mackenzie, Dave NORTHWEST CHESS needs two people to take over two very important jobs that Russell & Kathy Miller no longer have time to do, plus we feel we have been doing them long enough.

One job is that of Subscription Secretary. Equipment needed is a typewriter. Time required is about 8-10 hours a month. Job is mailing membership cards to WCF members, keeping NWC mailing list, mailing checks collected to WCF treasurer (no money is deposited by Sub. Sec.), money record keep is only the total amount received. NWC mailing list records are keep on 3x5 cards as a permanent record and on special cards which are used in addressing NWC. There is no pay now but as we grow there might be in the future. Person needs to be a Washington resident. If you are interested in helping out write: WCF, P.O. Box 1631, Yakima, WA 98907. Other job is typing Chess Calendar for NWC. Equipment needed is typewriter and about 5 hours a month. This is also not setup to be a paying job but could change easy as we charge for TA's. Apply same as above. Person could be in BC,Ore or Wash.

THE REAL WORLD RECORD

in simultaneous exhibition play was apparently set by FRANK J. MARSHALL at Montreal, Canada in January, 1922. He played 55 games in 7 hours and 15 minutes, scoring 88% (126 wins, 21 draws, and 8 losses). JUDE F. ACERS in Portland, Oregon on April 21, 1973 played 117 games in 13 hours and 14 minutes, scoring 84% (93 wins, 11 draws, and 13 losses). MARSHALL averaged 2.8 minutes per game; ACERS averaged 6.7 minutes per game. MARSHALL in his time was of Grandmaster strength. On the basis of his performance, we would estimate ACERS to be about medium master strength, possibly 2300.

NATIONALS

5th Annual United States Scholastic Championships was held in Chicago on May 4-6 at LaSalle Hotel. Event was held in 3 sections. Number one ranked Larry Christiansen proved his ranking by winning open section, 74-12. Christainsen attends Poly Tech in Riverside, California. Grouped at 7-1 in tiebreak order were: Mark Diesen of Potomac, Maryland, Joe Begovac of Detroit, Bruce Diesen of Esko, Minn, and JAMES BRICHER of COTTAGE GROVE, OREGON, Danny Shapiro of GreatNeck, New,York, John Conner of Evanston, 111.

In team scoring , topping 69 teams was Evanston, Illinois, repeating last years win. Thiers was a tie-break victory over Cleveland Heights, Ohio as both scored 2212-912. CLEVELAND, of PORTLAND, OREGON placed 6th on tie-break with 22-10. COTTAGE GROVE, OREGON finished 22nd and DAVIS of YAKIMA, WASH finished 27th with 175.

You writer attend this huge event with the Davis team. Dave Andreotti scored 5-3, Brent Youlden 5-3, Randy Leth 4-4, Jim Wardell 31/2-41/2 and Mike Andreotti 21/2-51/2. Ken Meirs, Davis High CC Advisor went along also. The Davis team raised $2000.00 between March 12 and May 4th to cover expenses of going. Letters were send to all business in Yakima plus professional people and friends of boys families asking for pledges. They pointed out how well the team had done in Washington State High School Tournament and High School Interzonal plus the fact that chess is one of the few events in which high school students can take part in a national event. When it appeared that enough money was going to be pledged that boys went around town and picked up the money. In addition to the letters a number of phone calls and personal visits were made to raise the funds. I would suggest that if a team has any plans to go they start at first of school year with some money making projects as a club and that will mean less money to be raised at the last minute. If you do well in state and regional events, the community will probably support you.

There were 485 players in National High School Championship, the results are above. In addition there was Novice High with 325 and 264 in Junior High. There were more names on the wall charts than that but some who signed up in advance did not show. Quite a job running these large events. Went as smooth as one could expect. Rules were printed on the score sheets provided. Players were requested to turn in the results, mark it on pairing sheets. One round 18 players did not turn in their result. Davis High players found the time controls: 40/1 for rds 1 &2 and then 40/80 for balance much faster than they liked. One needs to prepare for such different time control than you are use to playing with. Directors did little to keep playing rooms quiet and because of la-rge turnout there was really no skittles room. People selling chess books and equipment did a land office business, I know I helped sell.

BYE BYE. Miss American Pie

The 1969 U.S. Open in Lincoln, Nebraska brought together the usual spattering of old standbys and new hopefuls; but at this time, according to Steve Christopher, Koltanowski, Dubeck, Steve himself and some others engaged in the age-old, between games, pasttime of swapping stories about"the most unforgetable character I've ever met".

Dubeck's dilly was a master who's greatest joy was not(as sometimes happens with strong players)chess; this unnamed man was addicted to practical jokes.

It appears our anonymous master was standing in a group of other players (at a rather large Swise) all of whom were studying the crosstable for their first pairing, when he chanced to overhear a young player muttering perplexedly to himself the word:BYE. It did not take long for our jokester to unscramble the boy's predicamentihe was the lowest rated in the tournament, and had, as a result, been given a "BYE", there being an uneven number of entries.

Mister malicious master quickly formulated his next humorous "coup" He read aloud the young man's name from the cross table, saying, "I wonder who this person can be". The low rated player jumped at this chance to identify himself. "I am____",he said.

"Quite good", responded our hero, "my name is BILLY BYE, and it appears we have been matched together. But I have a problem. I have to leave for a half hour or so. Make your lst move and start my clock.when I return from my business.we'll play the round."

The novice, glad to have found so agreeable an opponent in "Mr.BYE", immediately did as he was told.

Our jokester went into another room of the playing area, defeated his real opponent and returned within an hour to hastily dispatch the inexperienced young man, who thought Mr. Billy BYE to be quite a player.

He reported his loss to the tournament director, who looked perplexedly at the crosstable, "How could you lose to a BYE?"he exploded.

The victim of this strange joke cowed to this verbal abuse. and, in a quivering voice, answered as logically as possible: "He was very good."

PEN PAL

Received a letter a short time ago from a fellow chess lover. He is starting a club but has a bit of trouble obtaining the necessary paraphernalia. He is temporarily confined. The little bit of help I can afford would be woefully inadequate by itself, so I'm extending the letter (and the chance to be a pen pal)to you.Here it is:

Dear Sir:

I am an inmate at Monroe Reformatory, I am now in process of organizing a club here.

This is my first try at this type of thing and I really want it to be a success.

The problem is sets and boards. If you can donate in any way to the success of this club it will be appreciated. It can be mailed to the return address in my name. Thank you very much.

Sincerily, Guy William King Monroe, Wn. 98272 ****

Visiting the Woolly Mammoth on U Way in the District lately, I saw a well-constructed wooden-inlay chess table on which could easily visualize intricate Jade and Onyx pieces if I could afford a J&O. chess set.

It was created by "several times winner" of the Bellevue Arts Festival woodworkers prize, Bruce Tipton.

where are the fairy godmothers when you REALLY need them?

The list contains all players active in the above events.

A big month. During it I moved and was also away on a business trip for a while, so the ratings for the month were done very hastily. My apologies in advance for whateever errors crop up; I could have even lost whole events in the hassell of moving. If so let me know about it, please.

I am receiving a wide variety of rating report formats again. That's fine, except that the essential information should be present. So once again, here is what I like to see:

For the event: Event name, date(s) of play.

For each player in the event: Name (First and last, with middle initial if the individual uses it), State (many reports omit this but I need it), a mark of some sort if the player is unrated (VERY IMPORTANT AND OFTEN OMITTED), and results of each game he played. Forfeits should be marked as such. If a player's name or state is incorrect in NWC, make a note to that effect. Be sure to give me BOTH the incorrect and correct forms.

Round robins should be sent in as round robins. Matchs can be just Doe, John 3, Doe, Mary 2. I don't need each game result for matchs. Cumulative scores, as on Swiss system wall charts, are ok as indication of game results, but be SURE to clearly mark forfeits. Ratings and final event scores are helpful in resolving ambiguities, but are otherwise unnecessary. Tie-breaking points I never need. The following little event is just the way I like to see them:

1	Doe,	John	Na	Unr	W2	D3	1.5
2	Doe,	Jack	Or	1127	LI	WF4	1.0
3	Doe,	Jim	BC	1444	D4	Dl	1.0
4	Doe,	Julie	Ma	Unr	D3	LF2	.5
		has and	date	haved

With, of course, the event name and date played.

One event submitted this month I returned as incomplete. The Vancouver Interclub report has no first names, no states (I assume BC of course), no event date, and no unrated indications. That ain't good enough. I trust the TD will fix up this report so I can process it with next month's batch.

A final note or two: matchs of less than 4 games cannot be rated. Several were submitted this month; I ignored them. And last but not least, at least to me, our Northwest system is being formally proposed to USCF for their use. My business trip was to the USCF office in Newburgh, N.Y., where I met people and talked computerization. We'll see what comes of it. In any case there is a possibility that our system will come into wider use. Now, you Canadians, propose its use to CFC at the Vancouver meeting as well. Let's get the rating business moving!

PROBLEMS

Milan R. Vukcevich has a Doctorate in metalurgy and has written several books on the subject. He is one of those rarities who is outstanding as both a Player and a Problemist. He has a 2470 rating, which puts him 11th in the U.S.! As a composer, his works are nothing but top-rate, innovative and refreshing, winning awards as though they were made especially for him. His No.47 has some themerelated tries and a sweet key. The theme is threat-separation, which depends on Black defences.

No.48 by the Yugoslav, Milenko Dukic, is a fun thing. A comment by British solver, D.A.3medley, suggests a possible revision (very slight in nature however). It is quoted here and is the reason for the "Version by ... ".

A Problem with major changes in setting and ideas, but with basically the same concept as another Problem quoted elsewhere by another composer, is now quoted as "after ..." A.J.Fenner's No.43 is not entirely Original as it is an altered idea of an Original by A.Benedek which appeared in the November 1972 issue of the "Problemist". SCORES FOR SOLVERS of the APRIL Problems: A perfect SOLUTIONS TO APRIL: No.25 (Wilson) 1.5xf6t Some good strategy in the variations but no real theme. No.26 (Mac-Dougall) 1.Sc6t The play is more interesting here, and the key is better also. No.27 Lepage) 1.cSxd7t The flightgiving ley is thematic as it introduces the one idea: a triple pinmatet 1...Kxe4, 2.Qxd5≠ Usually a Problem should extend an idea into as many variations as possible tut since most of the White material is needed to show this one line the lack of deeper play is pardonable. No.28 is void. Reproduced as No.33 in the May issue. No.29 (Touw Hian Bwee) 1.Rg3t threats 2.Be5/Sf3. Several tried 1.Bg3? with threats of 2.Rf4/Rd3 but is defeated by 1...Qb1t Strangely, no one went for either of the other two Nowotnys which seem equally attractive: 1.Rf7? threats 2.Se6/Sf5 defeated by 1...Qb3t When this Froblem was first entered, it had a double refutation to one of the tries, and had two cookst The revised setting, as it appears here, is therefore presented as a "Version".

No. 30 (van Dijk) 1.Kc6 threat 2.Qd3+ Bxd3, 3.Bc3 Or, 2..Rxd3, 3.Sxc2. If 1...Qe3, 2.eSd3 etc. or 1...Qf5, 2.Pd3 etc. with both these lines producing Nowotnys on d3. In the set-play (before the key is made), the Black "if" moves above were played different by White: 1...Qe3, 2.Bc3+ Qxc3, 3.Qe5 and 1...Qf5, 2.Sxc2+ Qxc2, 3.Qe5. The latter are known as Holthausen Interferences (interferences between like-moving pieces). But after the key, white is forced to abandon this strategy and now incorporate the Nowotny (interferences between unlike-moving pieces). Many solvers couldn't hack this one, with comments running from "Too loose" to "Baffling" to even "Unsound"! Although this Problem seems complex and cannot be understood quickly. It is definitely worth the time to study until 1 the becomes clear. Whatever can be learned from this excellent example will make future ones much easier to appreciate.

No.31 (Taffs) 1.Qdl Kf3, 2.Qh1+ Kxf2, 3.Se4 or, 1...Pf5 2.Qh1 Sxg3, 3.Pf3. As usual, Mr. Taffs has made a letter formation into a nice Problem. Even more consistently, he builds a pleasant element into a fine composition; here he shows two models! No.32 (Pauly) 1.Kf7! with four lines. The two that produce "butterfly" formations from those ugly looking Pawns are 1...Kxf4, 2.Pf3 Kf5, 3.Re6 kf4, 4.Rf6 and 1...Kf5, 2.Ph3 Kxf4, 3.Pd3 Kf5, 4.Rf3. Those who got this one truly know the beauty of solving!

The Study Bug

The response hasn't been as large as I'd hoped. Some studies everyone should have been able to get. It looks like a lot of material, true, but as I've suggested before nibble at it a little at a time.

No. 30 Keres: 1. Nc2ch Ka2/1 2. Nb4ch Ka1/11 3. Qa2ch ba 4. Nc6 and there follows 5. Nd4 and 6. Nb3(c2) mate. 1) 1. ... Bxc2 2. Qb8 Bbl 3. Qxb3 Ba2 4. Qxc3 mate. 11) 2. ... Ka3 3. Nd3 Bxd3 4. Gd6ch Ka2 5. not Gxd3 but Qd5! and mate follows.

No. 31 Olmoutsky: Rather a light study for such heavy material. I don't think you'll find it tedicus. 1. Ba3ch Kb4 2. Rab3ch/1 Kc4/11 3. Rhc3ch/111 Kd4 4.

No. 16 Bent: 1. Nh5ch Kxh7 2. Kf6ch Bf7 3. Exf7ch Kg8 4. Ke7 Eg6 5. Ke8 e5 6. Eg7ch Exg7 7. Nf6 mate. The "after" appended to the study indicates that the mein idea of the study has been anticipated. Some judges will not even consider an "after" study for an award. I agree with the minority who attempt to evaluate the degree of originality shown and to place the study accordingly. The composer who, by dint of considerable effort, has improved a study should receive credit for his work. No. 17 Farago: 1. e5ch Kxe5/1 2. Nd4 Kxd4 3. h6 elQ 4. h7 drawn. 1) 1. ... Kf5 or Kg5 2. Nd4. It might be interesting to prove to yourself that with the black king even one squere closer (i.e. in the square containing h4, h8, d8, d4 but minus d4) he can achieve either the Polerio or the Lolli position.

No. 18 Bondarenko: 1. f5ch Kh7 2. g6ch Kxg8 3. h7ch Kh8 4. Kxal Bd4ch 5. Kbl Bal 6. Nd2/1 b2 7. Ka2 (c2) and wins. 1) 6. Ne3? b2 7. Nc4 b3 8. Nd6 and stalemate. Bondarenko has composed a lot of studies where one (and sometimes both) king is in a hole.

No. 19 Prokes: 1. c6ch Kb6 2. Rf8 Bh2 3. f4 Bxf4 4. Rb8ch Bxb8 5. c7. See No's 145 and 683 of 1234 for comparison.

Kasparyan studies like this! The solutions to many of the recent ones would cover about half of this page. Might be interesting to give one as a "tiebreaker"!

POSTAL CHESS

SEND REPORTS AND RESULTS TO: Robert A. Karch 1135 North 96th Seattle, Washington 98103

The ratings and results in this issue were prepared by outgoing Postal Chess Director, RICHARD A. PARSONS, to whom we all owe appreciation for the fine job he has done. Thanks, Dick!

"IF " THE MOVE

From time to time, we are asked our opinion of the "if" move in postal play. I say, "It all depends ... "

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

TOO MANY T.D. S SPOIL CHESS TOURNAMENTS

With the American Chess Service's introduction of the Seattle Amateur in October, a dream was realized by Washington State Tournament Directors; if you advertise, offer good prizesfunds, and find good locations for tournaments, large numbers of players will come out! With 109 players at the Washington Open, and large turnouts at most A.C.S. events, the prospect seemed even better. So much so that many new Chess Organizations came into being to capitalize on the fantastic profits (?) that were being made by everyone. The fact of the matter is, however, that the most players we, in Washington, can expect to play in any one weekend, is around 100 players. Unless the event is supra-important, to believe that any larger turnout of players will result is pure suicide to the director who is willing to guarantee a large prize fund.

The problem now is that there are so many people directing tournaments that we are dividing this some 100 player crowd into 5 or 6 ways. To have a $500 prize fund offered means you must charge the 20 players who show up $15 apiece if you are to break even on just the prizes-fund: this does not include such expenses as rent, advertising, promailings, rating fees; etc. And there are some other things that are cutting down participation.

One of the big things is that there was a time that many of us can recall when a $30 prize fund for a class prize was a BIG THING. We would wait months, and save our pennies to compete for that prize. We would drool to think of it. Now, with Bob Karch's prize fund, this becomes a standard amount. Players are not motimvated to come and win a $30 prize; especially when you have to pay a $10 entry fee each time you play. So it seems that we need to raise the prize fund; but still keep the groups at 100 point intervals. No wonder the masters cry that this is ridiculous; they must sense that this will not bring the desired reaction from the larger mass of Class players. We have made the scene very mediocre.

To solve this growing problem which threatens to place all Tournament Directors in the poorhouse so there will be no one left to direct Chess events, I suggest that the Washington Chess Federation set up a T.D. Qualification system immediately. Any person who wishes to hold a tournament and have it sponsored in the Northwest Chess must be a Certified Director through the Washington Chess Federation. This should not be a program that is now in the work of being established by the U.S.C.F. If they do not act, we will be in big trouble. Bob Karch has agreed to hold a class at his A.C.S. offices that will instruct any interested persons in how to direct; make interpretations of F.I.D.E. rules, etc. and after a program of about three days, they could be given a certificate stating that they are the only people who will be allowed to direct tournaments in the state of Washington and receive space in Northwest Chess for publicity announcements. Also, all the directors must get together and bargain for different dates to hold tournaments, with an agreement made that no two tournaments will be allowed that will be in conflict within a given geographical area. If the state were divided into three or four parts; the Peninsula and lower mainland; the Puget Sound region, and Eastern Washington; then there would be no conflict of interest for proposed tournaments. This would mean that everyone would have a chance to plan well in advance for his particular tournament(s) and there would be less chance of directors losing money.

In a tournament that was held in August of 1968, I made a vow to devote myself to the organization of chess activities and be a director of chess tournaments. If I enjoyed participating in them so much, then I felt I must direct a tournament to insure that they would continue. But after losing $100 in the Pilchuck Mountain Woodbusters, and $70 in the Spring Tornado Open, I feel something is drastically wrong, and the only way I will direct another tournament is if things are corrected so that I may have a chance to break even. As of June 2, I will have directed my last Chess Tournament as the way things stand now.

Stephen L. Chase Jr.

Dear "Major,"

Thanks for the complimentary copy of "Northwest Chess." It is a good newsy issue of the type the USCF ought to put out. We miss you in Dixie but it's good to know you are still promoting even if it is on the Coast.

Regards,

David O. Stern Greensboro, N.C. 1705 West 59th Ave. Vancouver 14, B.C.

Dear Sir,

The letters from Messrs. Berry and Suttles in your April issue raised topics on which I would like to comment.

The style of a magazine is, of course, partly a reflection of the Editor's personality but he is greatly dependent on his contributors when, as in this case, copy is neither solicited or paid for. Rob Hankinson maintained a fairly high level with a couple of brilliant issues and a couple of atrocious ones. His prediliction for publishing almost libellous humour about leading players was unnerving to some, including myself, who had visions of lawsuits against the B.C.C.F. Whether this sort of 'colour' is advisable I am content to leave to the Editor.

Regarding the quality of games it must be obvious that 'what you send is what you get'. With the exception of Bruce Harper I know of no master regularly contributing games and few experts do so. If every NW player of expert level and above sent in one game a year the situation would improve drastically. So how about it, you guys???

I find Mr. Suttles arguments for higher first place prizes none too convincing and perhaps nothing more than special pleading for professionalism. Whether he regards himself as a professional I do not know but it is certainly not the function of an essentially amateur organization to bribe very strong masters to play chess! Rather, more tournaments should have restricted entry and even ban players over 2400 altogether as being of professional status, if not intent. It is one of the ironies of chess that, at a time when other disciplines (tennis,track and field) are eliminating the traditional barrier between amateur and professional, we are becoming increasingly conscious that such a barrier exists and that it is necessary.

I regard chess primarily as an art and the practitioner an artist, perennially poor alas. Unless chess becomes popular as a spectator sport there will be largesse only for the few. It is morally wrong to dangle large cash prizes in front of young players. A mercenary attitude is developed which positively herms the personality and character. Expectations of a chess career as a paying proposition are raised. Few have the ability, determination or opportunity to pursue such a demanding occupation.

Nor do I think much of his hypothesis that the prize structure is partly responsible for a dearth of exceptional players. He actually defeats his own argument by excluding B.C. which has had a similar prize division for some years. This period has seen many masters develop in B.C. and perhaps he is being modest if he ignores his own contribution to this phenomenon. Constant coaching by a master does infinitely more to encourage young talent than one shot encounters in a tournament. The prizes awarded in European tournaments havelittle to do with us and less with democracy. We have tried 'no class prize' tourneys and discarded the concept not because we think it undemocratic to support the winners but because amateurs in this area just won't buy it.

Finally, perhaps near Grandmaster Suttles does not realise that the pres ence of super players in local tourneys is a mixed blessing. First place is a foregone contained and the other masters feel victimised if they have to glay him. This leads to arguments about the pairings and the precent 'to hold the Chuse above renown, to love the Game beyond the prize' is completely forgotten. I con't help but feel that if it wasn't costing them anything they would consider it on honour to play him.

Yours ruly, Pottes

MORE LETTERS April 25, 1973

Dear Bob,

I note letters by F.J. Berry and D. Suttles with the same message: It pays to be mediocre. Suttles even claims that mediocre isnt as good as it used to be!

According to the Harris poll there are more than 36 million chess players in the USA. If there are 60,000 tournament players in the UBCF that means that the lowest rated USCF player is better than 35 million other players. That's mediocre?!

The lifetime Class B player puts in an enormous amount of time studying chess. There is reason to believe he works almost as hard as the Fxxert. In bowling and golf they have handicap tournaments. This hasnt hurt those sports and it hasnt produced a large group of bowlers and golfers who scoop up most of the prize money by not trying to improve. The danger in chess is that we will go to far and give so many Class prizes that it will be more of an incentive to be 'bad' than to be good. Already there are good players who deliberately lose games in order to get their rating down to Class A and B in order to win Class Prizes. These good players were Experts and Masters. This is a situation which is going to worse, not better. It is a problem which is really worth thinking about. Contract bridge doesnt have this problem. There are no cash prizes in bridge tournaments. In regional events they give the winners two decks of cards, or a silver serving tray. They have the proper attitude. The secret of why contract bridge is irrestible to the mass is: Master Points. These are like Rating points, except you cant go down. Your lifetime total of Master Points keeps going up and up. Chess should adopt the Master Point System. This would not replace the Rating System but complement it.

Let's hear from the sponsor. I began directing tournaments in 1953. In 1955 I began organizing tournaments in Columbus, Ohio. I was one of the first to organize two-day, five round tournaments. I also organized three day tournaments over holiday week-ends. In most Of these events all entry fees, minus expenses (no tournament director fee) was paid back as cash prizes. Traditional cash prizes: 1st, 2nd, 3rd, etc. The most entries I ever had was 66. Know how I got that? I organized a tournament in 1963 with a $700 prize fund. Doesnt sound like much? At that time there werent more than four tournaments in the country with larger prize funds. In 1964 I had a $785 prize fund, and 66 entries. That same year I organized a tournament with a guaranteed prize fund of $1000. Again there were 66 entries. I lost $500 and was unable to pay the prizes immediately. This considerably damaged my reputation which had been unimpeachable for ten years. I stopped organizing tournaments for several years. KNow who had been coming to my tournaments? The strong players and the ambitious players. The Experts and Masters gained a lot of good experience at my tournaments But the lower rated players stayed away. I would rate very high with Berry and Suttles.

A few years ago along comes Bill Goichberg and his Continental Chess Association. His tournaments in Cleveland were the worst organized and worst supervised I had ever seen. The tournament director never went into the playing room. He put up the pairings, pointed to the door and said: Get in there and fight. Sometimes they did. There was cheating and attempted cheating, kibitizing, noise and almost chaos. Could anyone be a success with those methods? His tournaments in Cleveland for the past two years have always had more than 200 entrants. He's a smashing success and I hope he makes a fortune. He was making tournament chess popular to the mass long before the Fischer-Spassky match. How does he do it? He holds tournaments restricted to low Classes. He offers large prizes for Class A and below. 80% of the entrants in his tournaments are High School players. The adults dont play because they are repelled by his refusal to keep order and enforce the rules, especially the touch-move rule. But the younger players dont care about little things like that, they want to play in events where they have a chance to win a prize, even if its only 5th Class C: That's what they want That's what Goichberg gives them. That's why he is a success and I was a failure.

We had a Cleveland Junior Championship. There were 17 entrants, representing 15 schools. Each school sent its best player, because he had a chance to win a prize. They didnt send their other players because they didnt have a chance of winning a prize.

Suppose I agree with Berry and Suttles. Should I organize tournaments with the old system of prize awards and get 40 entries? This isnt enough to pay for the playing room. Let people like Berry get commercial sponsors. Let them find sponsors who will put up $1000 and more for a chess tournament. Then let them offer ten or twenty cash prizes, starting at the top. Give nothing but trophies (lots of trophies, if necessary) for Class prizes. If that doesn't work then junk the rating system altogether. The damn thing should be junked anyway. Consider the crimes against good chess committed because of the Pailing system.

I know of a tournament which has a gift of $5000 from a business. Guess what prize system they are using. Ist Prize- $1000. 2nd Prize- $500. 3nd Prize- $250. 4th Prize- $150 Ist Expert- $200. 2nd Expert- $100. 3nd Expert- $50. 1st Class A- $150, etc. 1st Class B $100, etc. They also have an "Amateur" tournament, 1799 and below. 1st Prize - $300. They have a "Novice" tournament, 1399 and below. 1st Prize-$150. I consider this prize system to be insane. The difference between 1st and 4th prizes is much too large. The Class B player can win $300, but the best Expert can win only $200. (It is safe to assume that there will be many Masters there to take care of the first four prizes). The Class B player can win twice as much money as the best Class A player. The organizers wanted to get 500 entrants in order to impress their sponsor.

90% of the players want to play in tournaments restricted to players in their Class. I cant change them, can you? Put the blame where it belongs, on the players, no on the organizers.

H1, Bob

I read the letter by Suttles and I was knocked out of my seat when he suggested eliminating class prizes. Being an international master, I can see why he's willing to make such a "sacrifice." If he had his way, all the prize money would go to the top finishers where he could rack up some fat checks without too much effort. However, I do agree with Jonathan Berry in that a prize winner should earn his check and not be awarded something just for showing up.

I think you could appease Suttles by sponsoring a few big tournaments like the Atlantic Open or the upcoming World Open both here in New York. The Atlantic Open offers good cash prizes to all classes plus a fat check for first place. The only problem with the tournament is a hefty $30 entry fee. I suppose it's a necessary evil but it's also an undeniable drawback. Since tournaments like these are few and only come once a year, I think they're worth the money.

William Yuev Brooklyn, New York

Dear Mr. Karch

I would like to express my view of Alan Torkelson's letter to you (May 1973). He is not all that right, some of us lower rated players will attend the major tourneys. Some of us lower rated players just don't go for the class prizes, we go for the experience (to play the higher rated players). In the 1973 Northwest Open, May 5-6, I got a chance to play Dave Williams and Jim Blackwood. I feel that after I have played helped improve my chess very much. I am going to try to play in the master events more often.

> Eric Tangborn Tacoma, Washington June 2, 2973

Dear Mr. Karch,

Recently there was to have been held a metropolitan chess tournament in downtown Seattle, but both tournament director and tournsment feiled to materialize. This was extremely inconveniant to chess patrons, especially those who visited Seattle expressly for this event. This tournsment having a guaranteed prize fund implies that the tournament itself was guaranteed. The patrons who advanced entered are left without compensation for their entry fee, traveling expenses, accommodations, etc.

In the future it should be required that a tournament director who requires WCF membership should have WCF approval of his credibility end his tournsment format. This would prevent further incidents such as the above mentioned.

We hope the WCF President will take action soon in respect to this serious problem.

Sincerely,

D. L. Stefursk S. R. Wilson B. H. McGeary K. L. Mersu (all members of WCF)163

OREGONIAN-OMSI

The Oregonian/Omsi Junior Chess Tournament which was held from January to April was the largest in terms of numbers of players ever held in Oregon. On the local level, it is estimated that 20,000 students participated in the competition in several hundred schools. There were 12 regional events held, 11 in Oregon and one in Clark County, Washington, with about 1000 winners from the local events participating. All contestants were divided into three groups: Elementary (Kindergarten to grade 6), Intermediate (grades 7 to 9), and High School,

In the state finals held at OMSI, 26 teams of four competed on Saturday, and 100 individuals competed on Sunday. These were the winners from the Regional events and crosstables for these State events are included here.

The original idea for this series of tournaments was conceived by the Oregonian staff, who then approached OMSI concerning it. OMSI contacted Ciark Harmon who brought the Oregon Chess Federation into the event. Unfortunately, the OCF was not involved in planning and determining the playing rules for the events, which led to some problems which hopefully will be avoided in the future by having active experienced tournament directors involved in the initial planning stages. Also, the Regional events were held so close together that there were some difficulties in getting enough qualified help to direct. Still, for a first year endeavor, there were supprizingly few foul-ups and the Oregonian and OMSI are certainly to be commended for their contribution to Junior Chess in Oregon in 1973.

REGION #1C CMSI TOURNAMENT

The Region #10 elimination tournament for the statewide Oregon Museum Of Science & Industry - Portland Oregonian Junior Chess event was held in Hedford March 31 and April 1.

It was held at the So. Ore. Lions Blind Center without charge. There were 109 advance registrations but only 94 were able to atterd, 18 high school, 43 junior high and 33 grade school. The high school and grade school sections were completed in one day. High school at 40 in one completed four rounds between 9:30 am and 6:30 pm. The grade school at roughly 12 hours per game completed five rounds, finishing at about 5:30pm.

The junior high section ran two days with six rounds, 4 on Sat. & 2 rounds on Sunday. The Jr. high was also on 4C/1. On the average their games took longer than the high school games.

Region #1C covered Coos, Curry, Douglas, Josephine, Jackson and Klamath counties. All six counties sent players.

More than half the players had never played in a sanctioned tournament. Most of the T-D's work for Saturday was answering questions and interpreting chess rules. The biggest argument was with a tracher who would have liked to change the rules over the correction of illegal moves in connection with the touch rules when a check had been overlooked. Because of the lack of experience on the part of sc many, USCF tournament rules were loosely inforced. One of the experienced boys, good on rules, called his opponent regarding a draw offer when the other boy had a clear win. The inexperienced boy admitted he had seid "you"l] take a draw" (or very nearly that) but he was just kiding. The T-D told both boys that had the tournament been a rated tournament or if the decision would effect winning chances of either player he would have had to call the game a draw. However in view of the circumstance he allowed the inexperienced boy to continue with his win.

In the high school section Robert Clark of Eagle Point won first; Raymond Boldway of Grants Pass 2nd; Steve Schmelzer of Ashland 3rd. Schmelzer won in tiebreakers over two boys from No. Douglas High School in Drain; Robert Ness and Wee Morgan. The instructions from OSMI said Sonnen-Burger System for tiebreakers but the description on how to work them were for the Solkoff. The T-D used Solkoff which gave Schmelzer a clear 3rd. However had the S-B been used Robert Ness would have gotten 3rd. In view of this the T-D recomended to the OMSI tournament coordinator that Mr. Ness be allowed to be an extra entry in the high school division. Fo response as of this writing.

In junior high division Marvin Ansted of Gilchrist High School scored 6-0-6 to win 1st; Ron Bryson of Central Point 2nd; Jeff Defty of Medford Mid High 3rd. Once again tiebreakers, even with 6 rounds, forced a director's decision between Defty and John Wright of Shady Cove. Because of this the Ore. Youth Chess Assoc. awarded Wright a paid entry fee for the Oregon Youth Individual Chess Championship being held in Eugene May 12 & 13.

Medford Mid High captured the Jr. high team spot.

In Grade School Brian Frobert of Phoenix Elem. captured 1st 5-0-0; Lee Jefferies of Riverside Elem. in Roseburg L-O-1 2nd; Michael Williams of Phoenix L-O-1 3rd. It took second tiebreakers of S-B to give Williams the decision over David Herbert of Hanby Elem. in Gold Hill L-O-1.

Fhoenix Elem. School won the top grade school team position. No adjudications were necessary although a few were threatened.

Hoover Elementary School, Salem, Hosted 116 youngsters March 31 in one of the twelve regional tournaments which qualified eligible contestants for the OMSI=Oregonian State Junior Championship. Three separate sections ran concurrently, with 28 elementary players, 58 junior high and 30 senior high. The auditorium proved too small for so large an assemblage of chess players, so that the elementary section was removed to the relative peace and quiet of the library.

In addition to the individual competition, the elementary and junior high players were also vying for four-man team honors and qualfication for the Junior Team Championship tournament. Some teams brought substitutes in case of disaster, while others were eliminated when their fourth player failed to show.

Two perfect scores in the senior high section were chalked up by Doug Gemmell, Jefferson and Robert Gray of Lebanon. Third place qualifier was Scott Hanson of Newberg.

The elementary section also had two players finish with perfect scores, Jay Schrader of Salem Heights and Brad Volk of Candalaria (both Salem schools). Third place qualifier was Greg Moreland, of Salem Heights. The winning team was Candalaria, which included Volk, John Fitzmaurice, Craig French and Jeff Clem.

Due to the large number of entries, the junior high section had five rounds instead of four like the other two sections. The only perfect score was attained by Pete Burleson, Lebanon, with second and third going to his team mates Dan Eskeldson and Jeff Mitchell. The other player on the winning Lebanon team was Lyndon Jones. Sief Poulsen and Don Turner directed the elementary section. Steve Barrett and Jack Schrader directed the enormous junior high section (plus two assistants whose names I didn't get). The senior High section was directed by your writer, Esther Schrader.

Winner Gary Turner lost no games and drew with Kirk Hill and Bret Matthews to claim first place trophy. Hill's better tiebreakers earned him second place trophy over Bill Ferguson, who claimed the trophy for third place. First junior high trophy winner was Matthews, with first elementary trophy going to Jay Schrader and first girl's trophy awarded to Rachel Schrader.

In the meantime, 6 adults participated in the Junior Booster, a round-robin event. Jack Schrader's 5-0 earned him the first booster trophy, with second going to Randy Lam Both sections were directed by Esther Schrader.

Ratings used for pairing are NORTHWEST. In section "A" Ray Kerr dropped out after two games due to illness for the second year running thus the F's showing are games Defaulted. The surprize of the event of the showing put on by Brian MCLAREN of Nanaimo. John LEE did excellently in his section but having played so well in Nanaimo earlier this year against top players it was expected he would do well. Jon BERRY advised he would be away in Mexico during the finals and advised in advance he could not play, as well Robert CHOW found the finals conflicting with exam time and advised of his withdrawl as he held the next best score over all. That opened the door for Stan PAKOSTA who also held next best score over all and gives him a berth without having to playoff with CHOW. The four - Bruce HARPER, John LEE, Stan PAKOSTA, and Brian MCLAREN will play the finals in Nanaimo in a double round robin during the Victoria Day Open May 19, 20, & 21st.

prize he won although MOLNAR took second on tie-break. MOLNAR had his choice of prizes either 2nd or first A would have gone to A players. The only complaints came 1st Ben KRUGER - $30.00, Personal Trophy, from Duncan SUTTLES who didn't even play but argued over the pairings and prizes.

The pairing system - Accelerated Swiss - the first 2 rounds the top half playing each other and same with the bottom half, then in third round players with 2 points on top continue playing each other, while players in the top half with 1 point are paired against those winners in the bottom with 2 points. The same thing applies for O points on top they play one point on the bottom and the zero's on the bottom play each other. This is contined for the 4th round if possible (for 6 round event) or if 5 rounds they go into classes for last two rounds. The question usually is how does a good player on the bottom th C - Dave GOODEN - Text half get to play for first prize if he wins. If after 1st UNR - Bill CHORNOBAY- $5.00 & Trophy two rounds he has 2 points and then wins in the third he accelerates to the top to play against another 3 pointer. If he looses or draws he stays down. This can also happen The reason of showing FANCETT as second is that was the in the 4th but the third is important. This has been run in two events now and has been found very good for the majority of players who get to play more people their own and since the latter had trophy and same money that is strength for the prize in their Class. When looking at what he took, Its all in how you look at it. There were the player has done in his class but not necessarily point totals it has to be remembered they show how well only two experts in the event, and SEID dropped against the top players who compete for first place. out. Had POTTER not ended 3rd, the top 5 prizes against the top players who compete for first place. Larry KINSTEIK.

MEETING

DATE: SATURDAY JUNE 9th

TIME: 11:00 AM

SITE: AIRPORT INN, RICHMOND B.C.

Open to all members of the BCCF.

AGENDA includes: -

Annual Election of BCCF Officers and Governors to CFC Various Motions

Consideration of mandatory membership in the CFC when joining the BCCF.

Representation of all CLUBS(in person or by letter) is requested since this is a very important issue.

INTERIOR NEWS

Alex wood won the Kelowna Chess Club Championship for the third year in a row. Harro Rahder could have won it however if he had not made a fatal blunder in a drawn position in his first game with Alex. Kon Kleemaier's poor result is not really indicative of his ussual playing strength. Most of his games were very close and could easily have turned out differently.

"B" League was the closest fought league with only 3½ points seperating the 1st and 6th players. This is the same difference that devided the 2nd and 3rd players of "A" League. Also only one point was the difference between the 1st and 5th players of this league. Unfortunatly due to most of the players being involved with other commitments there were a large number of forfeitures in this league without which the results could have been different. Ken Rink who won this league last year was the only player to complete all of his games on time. Ken Fraser who finished sixth won this league 2 years ago.

In "C" League Keith Winter edged out Brook Zais and Gerry Fleming by 'z of a point. Gerry who got off to a poor start by winning only 2 games in the first half came back to win all five in the second and tie for second place.

Robert Goss, the only player in the tournament to go undefeated, won "D" League hands down by making all of his moves with his teeth. He drew Gordon Wolfe when he swallowed a pawn.

This was the largest club tournament we have had to date with 20 more players than in cur club championships of the past 2 years. Don Sukkau TD Kelowna Chess Club Championship

J. K. GILL CLOSED - EVERETT

1.	D. LEO STEFURAK	1925	x	1	1	1	1	lF	5 - 0
2.	Michael Spiegel	1946	0	x	1	1	1	1	4 - 1
3.	Donald R. Christensen	1704	0	0	x	1	0	lF	2 - 3
4.	David A. Calkins	1724	0	0	0	x	1	lF	2 - 3
5.	John R. Scannell	1850	0	0	1	0	x	0	1 - 4
6.	Oliver W. LaFreniere	1872	OF	0	OF	OF	1	x	1 - 4

The Puget Sound Open (14-15 April in Everett) was the qualifier for the closed tournament at the J.K. Gill Everett store. But the PSO was packed with Seattle players! So was the closed. Because the Everett store was closed on Sundays, those games were transferred to the new American Chess Service facility in North Seattle, a great convenience to all concerned!

When Stefurak defeated Spiegel in the first round, it turned out to be the decisive game for first and second places. Spiegel could only hope that LaFreniere might defeat Stefurak, but LaFreniere was ill and quit play on the second day. As less than half of his games had been played in a round robin, they were discounted for the purpose of the crosstable (which would have been important in case of a tie-break for second place), but his games do count for ratings.

Christensen played TD Karch a rated game during the "Bye" round, and Karch won.

D. Leo Stefurak was given moral and logistical support during the tournament by his brother, Peter, who also teaches an advanced chess course at the University of Washington Experimental College.

Prizes: 1st - $25 J.K. Gill Gift Certificate; 2nd - $15 value.

Stefurak is now qualified to play in the Washington state finals in Seattle on 8-9 September. He will be joined by the winners of the other five closed tournaments being held at: Seattle (three different stores), Yakima, and Olympie.

Everett City Open - 12 May 1973

1.	BRIAN OLSON	x	0	1.	1	1	3 = 1	$37.50
2.	STEVE CHASE	1	x	0	1	1	3 - 1	$37.50
3.	Duane Thorkildson	0	1	x	0	1		4 Books
4.	William Petty	0	0	1	x	1	2 - 2
5.	Mike Reed	0	0	0	0	x	0 = 4

The Everett City Open and the Everett City Junior both had guaranteed prizes. But, Duane Thorkildson was the only Junior, so he automatically won 4 books, plus got a chance to play in the Open. The Open only had three entries, so TD Steve Chase added both himself and the Junior. It was over in one day! Later, Leo Stefurak, who placed 2nd at the 15-player event in Bellevue but got only $13, said he "wished" he'd gone to Everett instead. The Everett first prize was guaranteed, but Bellevue was not, and Leo didn't notice the small print!

FRANETT SIMULTANEOUS

On May 11, Mike Franett, Washington State Champ ion, gave a simultaneous chess exhibition at the University of Washington, scoring 7 wins, 5 draws, and 5 losses against some strong opposition. For the Champion, this event is becoming an annual affair. Scoring victories against the Champion were Friederich Scholz, Brad Rind, Mike Spiegel, Ted Valentine, and Gary Gelow. Moral victories were cored by Roger Gervin, John Gregory, Walt Nelson, Arnold Chin, and Gary Houlahan. Others participating were Tony Scioly, Don Hensey, Mike Yu, Mark Meador, Aileen deMoulin, Warren Babb, and our one and only Mr. X. Many thanks should go to the Associated Students of the University of Washington for providing funds covering most of Mr. Franett's fee.

In a very exciting contest, where anything could happen, and usually did; Duane Polich managed to keep a slight lead he attained on round 4 to win the 44 player section of High School and Under age Juniors. Fred Pearson tried desperately to win his game against Duane, but blew a piece and with it the game.

Robert Strohm and Terry Grant managed to draw the top group and not lose a game for their second and third places. Terry was two pawns down to Mark Wallace, but was allowed a cheapo that gave him the draw.

Due to the large amount of players, and yet having so many rounds, many players were able to advance quite rapidly from a poor score to a high finishing score. John Fuller, Robert Forgey and Jeffrey S. Prothero are outstanding examples. At other times, due to the rushed nature of the TD's work, adjourned games were not played out until the 7th round. This also gave some players a pairing break until the last round.

This tournament was probably one of the more positive events for our Junior Players; the cost was very reasonable, and they all got a tremendous opportunity to develop some skill in tournament play. Congratulations are due to Robert Karch for setting up this fine section of play.

We had another successful tournament in Moses Lake with 23 players showing up from as far away as Penileton and Pilot Rock, Oregon.

Zack Tucker had a definite victory with 4 - 0 as the rest of the top players kept knocking each other over. Todd Damish, reported with a huge grin, that it feels very good when you win from Jack Grigsby---who was top rated player and had 250 points on Todd. Other upsets were Ed Yamamoto over Jack LeMoine with 380 rating points difference and the Carol Miller win over Teddy Garoutte. Carol seems to be underrated.

The tournament had an unusual number of short---less than 30 moves---games even among the better players.

I want to thank Ruby Moriwaki who served as assistant director.

WASHINGTON HIGH SCHOOL CHESS

SEATTLE METRO HIGH SCHOOL CHESS LEAGUE 1972-73

The two top teams in northern and southern divisions of Seattle Metro League, met for a four team playoff. Final places went to: 1st-Ballard, Franklin (defending titlists), 3rd-Rainier Beach and 4th-Shoreline. Team Captain for Ballard was Theodore Schlagel, league director. Some special mention is due the Shoreline Team.

Shoreline had not competed in ten years, and at the beginning of the season few of the players even knew how to capture en passant. Coashed by O.W. LaFreniere and Bob Reed, the team members were: Howard Eidem, Kirk Baerwaldt, Stan Yamaguchi Dale Stenning and Les Fader. Alternates were: Dave

SHORELINE DISTRICT CHESS TOURNAMENTS

Rudorfer and Randy Henning.

Under the direction of O.W. LaFreniere, Bob Reed and Charles Fuller 50 Shoreline District students took part in three school levels of tournaments on May 12,1973.

19 players from 6 schools took part in Elementary Section. First place went to Mark Stenning with Brian Jones second. Mark took home a nice trophy. 15 players from 4 schools took part in Junior High Section. Roger Croisier of Kellogg took home the 1st place trophy. Kurt Anderson of Morgan was 2nd.

16 players made up the High School Section. The top trophy went to Dale Stenning for his $3\frac{1}{2}-\frac{1}{2}$ score in the 4 round swiss. David Alexander was 2nd while Stan Yamaguchi was 3rd.

NWC thanks O.W. LaFreniere for the above information

BAILEY WINNER SEATTLE OPEN

We were uncertain about the possible success of the Seattle Open, due to the fact that on the previous weekend of 12-13 May, Puget Sound area cheas organizers had collectively (and in some cases, financially) experienced a minor disaster. Two players showed up on Saturday for the Seattle Chess Club Tornado, so Marvin Hayami cancelled and courteously sent them on to Terry McKibbin's Sema Open at Seattle University. With only seven entries, McKibbin cancelled rather than pay the room fee, but did not send the players to any other organizer who might hope to break even. The Bellevue Open had fifteen players, Tacoma Spring reportedly had sixteen, and Everett City Open had only five. However, Everett being a guaranteed ACS event did not cancel, and the top two players who tied for first each collected $37.50. Naturally, we were concerned about the Seattle Open the following weekend.

But the behavior of the chessplayers, like that of the chimpanzees, cannot always be predicted! The Seattle Open was the first and successful weekend tournament at the new American Chess Service facility. It introduced a new degree of informality, with the players being divided into small groups in separate rooms. Johnny Walker's round one game was adjourned, otherwise he might have withdrawn earlier. Borek Groschl was easily in contention until fatigue led him to place his Queen nakedly on prise late in the evening of round three. We think Borek could turn in a much better result if the tournament were played at the rate of one game per day, such as the coming Independence Week Congress this July. Northwest Ratings Statistician Bruce W. Bailey of Seattle successfully held off all "out-of-towners" - Dan Riley of Bellevue, both Gentalas from Bremerton, Neil Salmon and Paul Eggers, both from Tacoma. We wonder "what if" Bruce had had to play another Seattle man ?? Aileen de Moulin did not have the experience to make the most of her chances in a couple of her games. but this should resolve itself after a few more tournaments.

Top Six qualified for free entry into the J.K. Gill Closed tournament at the Northgate store on 2-3 June. Except Leo Stefurak, who already won the Everett Closed 5-0 last month! Which means Dave Williams can play, if he wants to. We will go down the list until we get six.

TD, Robert A. Karch

Because of the small turn-out and the wishes of some of the entrants to make this a one-day affair, I decided to combine the two sections in a four-round swisz, while keeping the entry fees and prizes separate. If this happens again, I think that I'll just run a round robin instead.

At least there was a clear winner in each section. It may also be noted that I changed the prize distribution. So that I could give all the entries back as prizes, the class prizes were eliminated and four places were awarded, on a basis of 40%-1st, 30%-2nd, 20%-3rd, and 10%-4th. BERRY TOPS

The Northwest Open is now history and so is most of my bank account. Tournaments have received a dearth of support in the last few months. Perhaps the interest generated by the Fischer -Spassky match was illusory.

The NW Open drew four masters and nine experts. All the masters and three of the experts were from out of state! For reasons that are not apparent, most of Seattle's masters are inactive. Perhaps like Mt. Rainier they prefer just to sit and blow occasional puffs of smoke.

The first round was marred by the absence of Peter Biyiasas. He made the mistake of spending Friday night at the Y. Their room service failed to wake him at 9 A.M. as he requested and he arrived at 12:30, after a vain attempt to assassinate the desk clerk. He received a forfeit for the first round but gamely decided to play out the tournament.

The dust of the first round scramble settled to reveal a remarkable number of upsets. Fred Nedell drew with Jonathan Berry and Greg Krimer of Portland drew with Bruce Harper. In the second round the redoubtable Fred Nedell drew with Bruce Harper.

Yasser Seirawan, now a legend at the age of 12, played Peter Biyiasas in the third round. A Biyiasas brevity was expected and a small crowd of jackals and vultures gathered to pounce on 11'1 Yasser's remains. Through the latter stages of the opening, however, Yasser obtained a marked psychological edge. Peter made a move and looked up from the board to find his opponent engrossed in the comic section of the newspaper.

Yasser also had a wicked initiative, with an open rook file staring at Peter's castled king like the muzzle of a gun, his pieces bristling with spears. That Yasser could have a won position came as a surprise to all except a select few of Last Exit lumatics who have learned the hard way to respect his talent. But, alas, poor Yasser, this time experience won out. Material and the game was lost through mismanagement of the attack. After the game Biyiasas expressed his regret that he could not take Yasser to Brasilia as his second for the Interzonal.

After four rounds Clark Harmon was alone at 4 points. Jonathan Berry, Alan Hill and Jim Blackwood all had 3½. Harmon was paired with Berry and Hill with Blackwood. A crush of kibitzers and ne'er-do-wells gathered around the games offering advice to each other, consoling their theories.

Berry obtained the initiative on an open file and increased his advantage to overwhelming. Jim Blackwood won a drawish looking endgame by cleverly knight-forking Alan Hill's rocks. Jim and Jonathan finished as co-winners picking up $137.50 each plus $30 for finishing on top of their groups. Tied for third with 4 pts. were Clark Harmon, Bruce Harper, Randy Dean, Tim Kauppila, Peter Biyiasas, and Don Christensen. Don's 1700 rating is way below his strength. In this tournament he defeated experts Walt Gentala and Louis Bridges.

Honorable mention goes to two Ms.fits, Aileen De Moulin and Elizabeth Kirby. It is encouraging to see female interest in our craft, or sullen art. I hope women participate successfully in all future events.

I thank Dave Williams for returning $20 of his prize. This reduced our losses to $316.

Bruce Betzer "lost" his set at the tournament. Would the person who "found" it please call me? (525-5980) Someone "found" Sam Barr's clock at the Puget Sound Open. In the future if I see anyone "finding" sets or clocks at a tournament, I will turn him in right after I break both his arms!

The life of a tournament director is a solitary one. He sits alone outside the tournament rooms where only a few stragglers venture, weeping and shivering to report their losses. I prefer the clamor of the battle field where plastic meets plastic and bones crush in between and where, occasionally can be heard the muffled roar of a mushroom cloud. TD Tim Litten

The Ellensburg Open was preceded on Friday night by an exhibition that drew 11 players who tried their skill against Mike Franett. David Klinetobe and Kipy Poyser got draws; the rest went down to ignoble de-The draws augured well feat. for the following tournament as both players won prize money.

Altogether the Yakima players fared best in the tournament, hauling over $80 in prizes back to apple country. A good fourth of their winnings hung on the last round, with David Andreotti pressing a vigorous attack against Poyser's pawns to assure himself some first place money.

Bruce Atkins, conspicuous for his abscence, was incidentally the first to send an advance entrv.

Though everyone seemed pleased by the prize fund break-down. there were some inequities in the system. There were some rather sparse 100-point groups; so, at least for smaller tournaments it may be more reasonable to award rating prizes to sections of similar strength without regard to the usual class I believe Tom Litdivisions. ten is trying something like that with the Northwest Open in May. Despite Suttles' astute objections, liberal prizes in the lower divisions make possible, through larger turnouts, higher prizes for Masters and Experts, the usual winners of Swiss tournaments.

The Ellensburg site was free, quiet, and spacious, with each table beneath a bank of lights. It might even have pleased an eccentric Grandmaster.

RUSSELL'S CHESS CHATS

The average rating of the 48 players at 3rd Annual Lone Pine Masters/Experts was 2322. Winner was GM Arthur Bisguier with 6-1, held to draws by John Grefe and GM Walter Browne. Browne tied with GM Laszlo Szabo of Hungary for 2nd with $5\frac{1}{2}$. Browne drew with James Tarjan and Anthony Miles of England. Szabo drew with Dennis Fitzinger, Roy Ervin and Dennis Waterman of Mytle Pt, Ore. At 5-2 were Miles, Grefe and Ed Formanek of Ottawa, 42 scorers were: Larry Christianson, GM Lubomir Kavalek, Peter Cleghorn, Bill Jones, William Matz. GM Larry Evans had only 4-3, he lost to Browne & Grefe plus two draws. IM Arthur Dake of Portland back to the chess wars for first time since 1955 scored $2\frac{1}{2}-4\frac{1}{2}$. Oregon Champion Clark Harmon of Portland scored $1\frac{1}{2}$ - $5\frac{1}{2}$. Former World Champion Vassily Smyslov topped the field at 10th Capablanca Memorial with $16\frac{1}{2}-4\frac{1}{2}$. He won 12 and drew 9. He won from 2nd place finäsher W. Uhlman who won 13 drew 5 and lost 3. G. Kuzmin of USSR and Silvano Garcia of Cuba tied for 3rd with 15-6. This is best finisher by a Cuban ever in this event. Donner of Holland had 14-7 while Savon of USSR and Spassov of Bulgaria had 1312.

Good Chess was played, there were plenty of good prizes; but no one evidently wanted to participate. I will plan to use a different formula for the Tornado event; since I feel that it should be a popular event, in that it requires no speed play, but the action is fast and the rounds are never very long. Don Emigh played very steady Chess, to top the Woodbuster's Tournament. Stephen Chase was $\frac{12}{2}$ upset by a strong and im- $\frac{12}{2}$ new to organized Chess, and displays very good potential $\frac{12}{2}$. Rafael Lamarca nearly got $\frac{12}{2}$. Bobby Fischers Lawyer, Stanley R. Rader of Los Angeles has been in Europe checking out offers to do simultaneous for quite large sums. CHESS reports that Yugoslavia will pay \$10,000 an evening for simultaneous. Dutch are talking \$50,000 for an 8 board simul against a national Dutch team. \$200,000 figure is mentioned for Fischer-Mecking World Title match. Reports are that Fischer is going to play in some tournaments. Reports I have say he wants \$150,000 just to play. Hope he does play as it will be good for Chess. There is talk of a \$1,000,000 return match with Spassky this fall in USA, wouldn't that get a lot of publicity for chess.

REPORT ON AMERICAN CHESS SERVICE SEATTLE FACILITY ACTIVITIES

Three Speed Tournaments took place on May 5th. Dave Rupel topped section 1 with 6-7 and Pat Hickey 2nd at 4½. In section 2 Randy Dean scored a perfect 7-0 with Viesturs Seglins at 6-1. In third section Mike Murray went undefeated while Store Chase was 2nd 5½. Two speed events were played on May 12th. Randy Dean scored 7-0 with Johnny Walker 2nd 6-1. In 2nd section Johnny Walker came first 7-0 with ACS Executive Director Robert Karch 2nd with 5-2.

By speed events we mean 5 minute games. One can get a lot of chess in a hurry playing 5 minute chess. May 18 found two sections of speed chess again run. Johnny Walker won first section 7-0 with Chris Gentala 2nd at 4½. Johnny Walker and Leo Stefurak tied in 2nd section $6\frac{1}{2-1}$. On May 23rd Robert Karch won a 6 player speed tournament with 5-0. Taking 2nd was Ken Smith.

In first section played Friday May 25 Johnny Walker and Randy Dean tied 5-2 with Walker winning the playoff. Shoreline High School team plus Don Emigh made up the 2nd section that night. Dale Stenning won 5-0 with Howard Eiden and Emigh tied for 2nd 3-2. In a 30/30 tournament held May 13,Robert Karch won 3-0. Second place was Ken Smith.

Speed events are held every Friday evening starting about 7:00pm and lasting as long as there are players who want to play.

RUSSELL'S CHESS CHATS

USCF is running an International Tournament of 12 players in Trenton, NJ to start June 16. They aim for a category 5 event making it possible for USA players to make Grandmaster and International Master norms (GM 81): IM 72). Players expected to take part are Pilnik of Argentina, Rossolimo of France, Paoli of Italy, Uzman of Turkey plus USA players: Bisguier, Soltis Martz, Rogoff, Feuerstein, Mednis plus two USA players who won 8 players qualifying tournaments. These two are Kim Commons a UCLA student and Craig Chellstorp of Chicago. Commons won the western qualifying over(in finish order) James Tarjan, Norman Weinstein, John Grefe, Ross Stoutenborough, Walter Cunningham, John Jacobs and Alexander Pavlovich. Chellstorp won the Eastern event on tie-break when he plus Larry Gilden and Andrew Karklins all ended up with 6-1. Hopefully the qualifiers plus the International will be annual events. In other USCF news there is a "Canusa" international event in the works to start in 1974. This would be an International event held one year in Canada and the next in USA. USCF office is looking for large quarters. Phoenix Arizona has been awarded the Chess Citation for 1973 as the "Regional Chess City of the Year". George Koltanowski is working on a travelling chess exhibit housing the Chess Hall of Fame. Paul Morphy is the first member.

The Othello Chess Club held its first tournament --- The Othello Spring Open-4-on April 14. It turned out to be a rather small tournament with 10 players turning out. Part of the problem was a lack of advertising, as it missed being published in Northwest Chess.

Organizer Carol Miller felt that it was a qualified success --- what with it falling opposite the tournament in Pendleton and also one in Spokane.

There were no spectacular upsets and most players finished about as expected. With the unexpectedly small turn out the prize money was spread kind of thin, but all class winners earned back their entry fee with first, second & third getting a small extra amount for their efforts. It was felt by Carol Miller and myself that we should stay with the prizes which it was said would be paid out in the publicity which was released.

SWINDLE!

Brian Potter

This game is more an exercise in self-destruction than a swindle. It is a tragedy of errors or a melodrama of inconsequential moves. I earnestly implore the purists among you who think that a won game should always be won not to venture any further. You will only become annoyed at the garbage being printed these days and will write masty letters to mine Editor. My only excuse for publication is that it may have a useful lesson about the difference between appearance and reality.

EXPERIMENTAL OPEN Round 1

	Bill Edie	Brian Potter
1	P-K4	P-QB4
2	N-KB3	P-QR3
3	P-Q4	PxP
4	NxP	P-Q3
5	N-QB3

5.P-QB4 is probably better here

6 P-QR4

Inferior to the normal 6.B-KN5 which is now prevented. - ---

N-KB3

		P=14
7	N-B3	P-R3
8	N-B3 B-QB4	Q-B2
9	P-ON3

This must be the worst way of defending the Bishop because of the resulting holes. 9.Q-Q3 was superior and if 9...B-N5 10. N-R4 with a better game.

		D=N7
10	Q-Q3	QN-Q2
11	N-Q5

White tries to relieve the awkwardness of his position by a little bloodletting. An alternative was 11.0-0, N-B4 12.Q-K3, B-K2 13.N-R4 and if now 13...O-O 14.N-N61 R-Q1 15.NxBch, QxN 16. P-B3 with play against the QP. But whoever sees these lines over the board?

		NxN
12	BxtN	R-B1
13	P-QB4

Well, this certainly fixes the 'weakness' at d6 but also makes attack impossible. And what about the super pawn at d5?

		N-B4
14	Q-B3	B-K2
15	P-R3

This and the next result in an unnecessary and fatal weakening of the position probably induced by the failure to see any possibilities in the near future. Instead of aimless moves which actually help the opponents attack it is better to sit tight with prosaic defensive moves such as 15.0-0

		B-R4
16	P-KN4	B-N3
17	N-Q2	B-N4
18	PB3	P-KR4
19	N-B1

White could not avoid loss of a pawn with 19.PxRP because 19... RxP and Q-Q2 would allow penetration of the Black forces near the defenceless King.

		BxB
20	RxB	PxP
21	BPxP	NxKP
22	Q-B3	N-N4
23	Q-K3	P-KB3
24	P-R4	N-B2
25	N-N3	ର– େ2
26	Q-B3	P-N4?

As so often happens after winning material Blacks forces have become slightly disorganized. Whites K bishop is alive and well again but after 26 ... R-B2 one cannot doubt that Black will survive the temporary difficulties. Unfortunately I here thought I could take advantage of the undefended 2 rook and win another pawn.

27 B-N7 ...

Heavily
---------	--

		R-DZ
28	BxP	P-K5

Now I saw that Pxeither P 29.B-N5 wins the Queen. OK so now we're even Steven again and that dreadful diagonal must be closed! 29 Q-K2

Wisely refraining from capturing the poisoned pawn. After 29.NxP, 0-0! If 30.BxP, Q-K3 wins a piece. If 30.0-0, PxRP 31.B-N5, Q-K3 32.N-Q2, PxP (not 32.. N-K4 33.Q-Q5!) 33.NxP, B-K5 and Black has survived his blunder.

30 BxP 31 R-B1?

I really don't know why Bill didn't simply castle here. This way the King remains in the centre and I can hope a little.

....

That undefended QR again. Never theless a difficult choice to make. I discarded 31 ... N-K4 because 32.NxP is possible and after 32 ... NxP couldn't see anything conclusive. 33. NxPch fails against 33 ... RxN. Another move was 31...N-R3 but after 32.P-N5, N-N5 33.P-R5, B-K1 34.BxB, RxB 35.PxP, NxP 36.N-B5 I prefer white. The blitzing move was the only way to complicate matters.

32	R-Q1	Q-K4
33	Q-K3	R-Q1
34	RxP?

Losing a piece. 34.R-Q4 stops the immediate PQ5 but Black can continue the attack with 34 ... N-R3 and White is hard pressed to defend all the weak squares. e.g. 35.N-K2, NxP 36.Q-B4, N-R7! and he is in a bind.

> RxR R-B6

So Black wins a piece.

35 PxR

36 Q-B4

QxP??

2-25

But he doesn't want it! What possessed me to spurn the piece I don't know. It is now clear that 36 ... QxQ 37.RxQ, RxN 38. P-R5, B-R2 39.B-B4, N-Q3 40.P-R5, NxB 41.PxN, R-QR6 wins easily. I must have thoght I could checkmate but sadly underestimated Whites resources.

37 B-B4

Obvious and very strong. Now the Knight is pinned and dirty checks with the Q are looming.

38 R-B2??

With 38.N-K2, R-K6 39.P-R5! (Harper's move), Q-B6ch 40.K-Q1! or 39...Q-R8ch 40.K-Q2 Black can resign since too much is hanging. Also 39.Q-N8ch, K-R2 40.P-R5 wins or 39.K-32! R-B6ch 40.K-N2, RxQ 41.NxQ, RxPch is possible. R-K6ch

39 R-K2?

After 39.K-B1 the King escapes to N2 and White has all the threats. Inexplicable. O Phab

		g-boch
40	K21	RxN
41	R-K1	R-N7

N-N3 Q-K2 It is clear that white has been making moves by rote, in the knowledge that they usually put the pieces on certain squares in the Ruy Lopez. Black, on the other hand, has been quietly consolidating his position in the centre, ready to react to any white thrust. P-Q5? N-R2 13. 14. B-B2 In this kind of a position, white should certainly want simplification, especially of the 'bad' bishop. P-QB4! 14. P-B4 15. P-QN4 P-N3 N-R3 16. N-R4? P-B4 17. Now the knight just has to retreat. The text is also playable (outside the province!) 19. B-N5 Q-B1 NPxP 20. KPxP Now the black pawn centre has some dynamic energy, as it can move forward. 21. BxN?! BxB P-N5 22. R-N1 Here white should try something like 23. N-R4, N-B1, 24. Q-R5 N-K2 25. K-K2, with some play, which is more than he got in the game. N-:22? 23. R-K1 Under normal circumstances, black would need to recycle the knight by N-Bl -K2-N3-B5, but it turns out he doesn't need it! 24. P-B3? K-R1 25. R-KB1? R-N2 26. N-K2? The material on this page was contributed by Canadian chessmaster, F. JONATHAN BERRY. It represents only about two-thirds of the material he actually submitted. (We make no guarantee that everything you send in will be published!) In the past, the so-called "personality cult" in chess circles was developed or evolved, based on a series of true incidents which occurred between the principals concerned at various chess matches and tournaments. Now, the ERUCE HARPER cartoon series is apparently attempting to again foster the cult idea, but by dubious and artificial means. We declined to publish his cartoon this time. (Editor)

CHESS: Light or Darkness?

When one probes into the history of chess, one does not often ponder whether the result of chess has been for good or for evil.

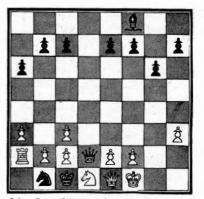

What is "good" and what is "evil"? One could, of course, go on for pages defining the two, and moreover, not shed much light on the subject. Let us forego this, and let the two terms be defined intuitively. After all, we have inherited the knowledge of good and evil from the sin of Adam in the Garden, so we ought to know what they are, even though the animals obviously do not.

The good or bad of chess has been mainly confined to the social area. Chess is intrinsically a form of art, but whether art is good or bad is a matter of personal intent and opinion. Chess has neither caused wars nor shortened them. No one has 'died for chess', nor has any life been saved by chess. Chess provides enjoyment for millions of people, but enjoyment is no criterion for goodness. For example, sex is enjoyable, but whether it is good or not depends on the circumstances. Of course, proponents of the "New Morality" may raise up a cry here. However, people know when something is good or bad, but rationalize when they can see no reason for the difference. I can see no good reason why a certain act is good in some instances and bad in others, but I do "know" that there's a difference. Hence I would be inclined to say that chess is neither good nor evil, but rather ambivalent.

Some people get a high emotional involvement in the outcome of a game of chess (this also applies to other games and sports), as if it were a matter of life or death. Very simply stated, it isn⁴t. When you lose at chess, it is just a reiteration of the obvious. We lose because we are stupid. Everyone loses. Ergo, everyone is stupid. On the other hand, chess has become one of Man⁴s highest cultural achievements. In my view, this achievement is in the form of praise to God, although many chessplayers disagree because they have not desired to experience Him. People have been saying there is no God since time began. (See Jeromiah 5:12,13) Satan is hard at work.

So, Chess - Light or Darkness? My answer is - neither. You can make friends and enjoy yourselves, maybe make a living out of it. But if you want an answer to the questions of Life, you'd better go elsewhere and keep out of the Darkness.

Comments would be appreciated. Write: Jonathan Berry, 4430 West 13th Vancouver 8, BC Canada.

The problem, and a very hard one, I might add, was created by L. Cheriani. NWC keaders have certainly been enjoying the problem column. Appended is a different type of problem. The terms: Mate in one. That is the easy part. But whose move is it? To prove your answer, you must fabricate an entire game ending in the position.

SNOHOMISH COUNTY SPRING OPEN March 10-11

John McCall turned out to be the big money winner but he was second to Randy Dean, who had the better tie breakers. John played very steady Chess, and his coolness won out in the time-pressure scramble with Groschl. Mark Cook won the 'A' prize, and Dave Calkins placed Very well, but took home no money. Boyd Benson and Myron Genmer shared the B money, while Tom Shanley and Larry Swan shared the C money. Gabe Patterson took the D prize, and the sensation of the tournament, was the strong showing of two Unrateds, Matheson and Warner. Both have participated in tournaments before, and the score might have been higher for both had they made the best of their chances. Each won $10.00.

Carl Bess was very disappointed with his first tw0 rounds where he enjoyed a winning advantage against Olson, and had a draw against Jaaska. DeWeese had Gemmer's Queen for two knights, but was in serious time trouble, and lost the game by blowing the sequence. Warner had Groschl in a Q and pawn ending, but lost on time when he had five moves to make in five minutes. He thought he had made time-control, and was very disappointed. The funniest thing that I saw was how a very inexperienced Kelly Leifer just sat while Grant Vance committed Hari-Kari at the Board. Vance played a King's Gambit, and sacrificed two pieces for a mating attack which didn't pan out. Leifer had used about ten minutes of time, Vance 1:50

The event was played in the fine Walter E. Hall Golf Course. Unfortunately the event had been rescheduled from the field house to Legion Hall, and them a wedding conflicted there, so I got the boot. This made some of the players rather angry; but everyone got there who was going to come. The story on the turnout was although the numbers were small, the players from the Everett area was very encouraging.

Class C players dominated the Obskuros Open. The first two places were taken by C players, and only one C player, who withdrew, finished out of the money. STAN POLLOCK swept to an easy 4-0 finish, as the top two rated players were ' knocked out by round two, one of them by Pollock. All four unrated's broke even and divided the prize to the point of insignificance. Cliff Pappas should have a nice provisional rating after beating Bruce Bailey. Mike Mulford finished third in Class C and wound up with the prize as Pollock and Bill McGeary went 1-2, McGeary sharing his prize with Wayne Hatcher. Steve Campau also tied for second and third but elected to take the equal class B prize. Dave Pollock, brother of the winner drew Bailey en route to the D. prize. Nathan Harrison earned his first tournament win when Polich resigned to him after delivering mate! (He won another game at the Moby Delp on May 5) Duane Polich and Mike Mulford directed the tournament.

out to prove that "the money isn't everything" during the second round of the Cascade Open. Moravcsik's scheduled opponent called in to withdraw after the round had begun, and Waters was entitled to the Bye for the round, but they both elected to play each other rather than taking their free point, so they fought it out.

Albert Leong was pitted in a rematch (from the Eugene Open) with Eivind

Stensholt, and managed to get his revenge in the second round confrontation.

Certain players at the tournament contended that Mike Schemm's excellent showing resulted from his shirt: bright orange, red, and purple. They felt it so blinded his opponents, that they had difficulty analyzing the positions. (Word has it that J.C. Penney carries this model, for those of you who want to try it!)

In spite of poor advance publicity (the TA was sent in for the April issue, but was accidently left out), and a last minute change in the site, twenty players still showed up to play in this event. The Flag Room at the library was a last minute choice but turned out to be even nicer than our usual site at the Bank of Astoria. The room has excellent lighting and high ceilings and will probably be used again for Astoria tournaments.

The group was a young one, with 12 of the 20 players below eighteen years of age. Two of Central Elementary's OMSI team (which won second place at the State team event) competed here and won against some older and much more experienced men. It looked for a time as if Teddy Leong, a sixth grader, might win the tournament when he had a perfect score at the end of the third round, but in the last round Teddy faced Astoria's Fred Andrus, and six decades of experience won out. Jon Aho played consistenly top flight chess and demonstrated that his rating is obviously below his ability. Only three out of town players were present and neither Kurt or Karl Granat or Washington's Michael McCoy were able to outplay the Astoria area contestants for the top trophies.

SEATTLE CHESS CLUB NEWS

Bob Burns swept the field (4-0) as he won the Friday Night Swiss held May 4 & 11. Chuck Powrie and Bill McGeary tied for 2nd at 3-1. Powrie took 2nd prize and McGeary opted for C. August Piper (21-11) turned in a good performance as he took 1st Unrated, allowing Tony Scioly with the same score to take 3rd. Thain Howard and Dave Combs tied for 2nd Unrated ith 2-2 scores. Richard Koler's score is not indicative of the level he is capable of playing. In his first round game with Powrie, he had Powrie completely busted, but late in the game he overlooked a mating threat.

Bob Karch, Roger Hanson and Pedro Garcia-Pelayo have survived two rounds of elimination play to determine a challenger to Vladimir Pafnutieff, current Seattle Chess Club Champion. This year's champion will not only receive one year's possession of the rotating trophy, but also a plaque and a one year extension on his Seattle CC membership.

U.S. WOMEN'S CHESS CHAMPIONSHIP

We note, regretfully, that the 1973 U.S. Women's Championship will again be held in St. Petersburg, Florida, home city and state of the USCF National Chairwoman for U.S. Women's Chess. It is a sad state of affairs when a national officer fails to rotate the location of a national event. Since the 1972 tournament was held in Florida, we had hoped for a more central (or even western!) location for 1973.

The USCF national office also informs us that it will be an invitational tournament with eleven players. Invitations will be mailed in early September, using the August rating supplement. Playing dates are from 27 October through 11 November at the Princess Martha Hotel.

The Spring Vacation tournament was held by the courtesy of the So. Ore. Lions Clubs in their Medford Blind Center.

Marvin Ansted a 9th grader from Gilchrist High held out well against higher rated players, defeating two and drawing with a third.

The 58 players from 21 different schools were divided: 19 high school, 20 Jr. High and 19 grade school. This was the largest grade school turnout to date.

California players from Yreka High School made their first appearance in Oregon's spring vacation event. They did very well considering the lack of outside competition in their own school area.

The only girl in the tournament, Lois Freeman, although playing in her first rated tournament managed to win over a 1479 player.

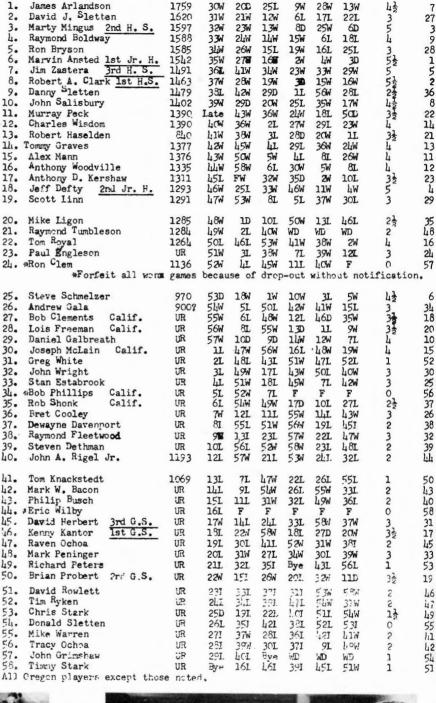

Eagle Point High School won the Mail Tribune Rotating Trophy with 19 wins. A not too strong player, Greg White, with his one win placed the Eagle Point total 2 point over two runner up teams. Medford Mid High and Scenic Jr. High Who says the also rans each scored 182 wins. are not important ???

A sixth grader and a seventh grader were last to finish round six. Brian Probert, the 6th grader had Murray Peck, an 11th grader, beat right up to the last few moves but experience or lack of it, depending on who you might have been rooting for, gave Murray a draw by repetition. A win by Probert would have given him 1st grade school and moved Kanter down to 2nd.

Robert Haselden, 7th grader, had a win over Jim Arlandson, 1759, 10th grader. In the end game Arlandson was able to steal pawns and pieces to win an otherwise lost game. This was the last game to be completed and had the 3rd place Jr. High trophy in the balance. A win by Haselden would have given him the trophy and dropped Mann from the winner's circle. Even the director thought the game had been decided and started to give out the grade school trophies. The players had to remind the director to hold down the noise in accordance with his cwn rules. This was not the weekend for 'the higher rated players. If anything, upsets were the rule. In the 4th round Ansted's win over Sletten put David into a "what is the use" attitude. Jeff Defty, in the 6th round, overcame Raymond Boldway in spite of a 295 point spread. Round 5 saw Woodville, 1335, defeat Bryscn, 1585. Tom Royal, 1264, added insult to injury over David Sletten, 1620.

The greatest single player improvement, without winning a trophy, was registered by a 12th grade Ashland student, Steve Schmelzer. He entered with a NW rating of 970, having played in the So. Ore. High School Chess League for the past season. Steve's draw with "hris Stark was his only weak game. He went on to defeat higher rated: Defty, Arlandson, Salisbury, slipped to Mingus, right back over Bryson.

BOOK REVIEW - James R. Schroeder RESHEVSKY ON CHESS - by Samuel Reshevsky

Dover reprint (paperback) - RESHEVSKY'S BEST GAMES OF CHESS. Originally published 1948 by Chess Review magazine and distributed by David McKav.

272 pages. 110 annotated games. Autobiography. Price = $2.50

Samuel Reshevsky - Superman

The Reshevsky luck: In the 1942 USA Championship tournament he lost on time against Arnold Denker. The referee (L.W. Stephens) came up to the board, picked up the clock from the back, turned it around, and forfeited Denker! When informed that he had forfeited the wrong player he refused to correct his mistake. Supposedly he said: Does an umpire reverse his decision? (The answer, of course, is: Yes.)

When the tournament ended Reshevsky and Issac Kashdan were tied for first. Reshevsky won the play-off match.

The Reshevsky luck: He had two adjourned games to play the same day at the AVRO 1938 tournament. One was scheduled for the morning and the other for the afternoon. When his morning game ended sooner than the tournament committee had expected, they called Rueben Fine and told him to come to the hall at once and resume his adjourned game with Reshevsky. Fine, who had been sleeping and had not even looked at the adjourned position, 'protested. The referee threatened to forfeit him and Fine gave in. The game was resumed in a position where Reshevsky was winning, but he let his advantage slip away. After Fine had secured "an easily drawn position" he overstepped the time limit and lost.

The Reshevsky luck: In the last round of the 1940 USA Championship, needing only a draw, he was Black against Fine. The game began 1 47K4 PK4 2 NKB3 NQB3 3 BB4! No Ruy Lopez. Caught offguard, Reshevsky played poorly and soon Fine had a winning position. With the Championship in his grasp Fine miscalculated and Reshevsky escaped with a draw - and another Title.

The Reshevsky luck: At Zurich 1953 Laszlo Szabo missed the opportunity to mate Reshevsky in two moves. The game ended in a draw.

The Reshevsky luck: Many, many times he has offered draws in lost positions and his opponents have accepted.

Why Superman? Reshevsky won the USA Championship in 1936, 1938, 1940, 1942, 1946 - and - 1969!

In 1972, at age 61, he tied for first with Robert Byrne and Lubmir Kavalek.

Why Superman? He has outlasted all his contemporaries except Paul Kores, who is six years younger.

Why Superman? Because he plays to win in the endgame. On and on he plays. Short, slightly-built, never leaving his chair. Pursing his lips and getting into horrid time-pressure. The longer the game lasts the better are his chances of winning. When someone blunders, due to fatigue, it isn't Reshevsky.

Born November 11, 1911 in Ozorkow, Poland, Reshevsky's innate talent for chess has not been exceeded by any player. He learned the game: "When I was four years old I was able to play well enough to defeat most of the players in our village." "In 1920 my career as a 'chess prodigy' began in earnest. Accompanied by my parents, I toured the capitals of Europe, giving exhibitions in Berlin, Vienna, Paris, London and other cities." Later that year he was brought to New York and, for two years, toured the USA, giving exhibitions in chess clubs, public halls, theaters, department stores. He drew enormous crowds of spectators (Not all of whom could play chess). "At one store in Philadelphia more than three thousand people turned out." (Read Chess Secrets by Edward Lasker for an account of Reshevsky's exhibitions. I believe he appeared in Cleveland at The Arcade. People lined the railings for six floors up, looking down upon the little boy, playing twenty games at once. Ellioit Stearns obtained a draw.

"My career as a chess prodigy ended in 1924, when it was decided that a formal education was long overdue." Julius Rosonwald offerred to pay for his education, provided that he stop playing chess. And there went his chances of becoming World Champion, and the first millionaire chess player.

Teshevsky played in a Haster tournament in New York in 1924 and an Amateur tournament, the Western Open, in Detroit in 1924. We played in three more Western Opens, in 1927, 1931, 1932.

In the Master tournament at Pasadena, California in 1932 (an event woefully neglected in American history) Alckhin was first and Kashdan was second. Reshevsky tied for third, with Arthur Dake and Herman Steiner.

His Opening play was atrocious. Everyone knew the Openings better than he did. His style was forged in the crucible of necessity: Defend a cramped position, defend some more, counterattack and win the end game.

He played by calculation. He did not have the intuition created by playing over hundreds of Master games, as did his opponents. He hadn't studied checs theory and played thousands of skittles games.

No wonder he got into time-pressure in almost every game. What his opponents knew, before they sat down at the board, he was forced to find while his clock was ticking away.

Resheveky obtained his degree in Accounting from the University of Chicago in 1933.

He was second in the Western Open in Detroit 1933, with 9 wins and 4 draws. He tied for first in the Western Open in Chicago 1934, with 6 wins and 3 draws. In the American Masters tournament at Syracuse 1934 he was way in front with 10 wins and 4 draws. Kashdan was second with 10 points, followed by Dake, Kupchik, Horowitz, Steiner and eight others.

These were the players who brought the World Team Championship to the USA in 1931, 1933, 1935 and 1937.

It is significant that Reshevsky was undefeated in these three events. He became almost unbeatable in USA tournaments as he dominated American chess for the next Twenty-two years.

Reshevsky became a Grandmaster by winning the tournament at Margate, England in 1935, ahead of Capablanca, who he defeated. This immediately made him a World Championship contender, a role he fortified in more International events.

Frank Marshall had been USA Champion since 1909. He retired in 1936 and a USA Championship tournament was held. Now the Age of Resheveky began in earnest. He lost two of his first four games but fought back to finish first, $\frac{1}{2}$ point ahead of Albert Simonson.

Reshevsky was undefeated while winning the USA Championship in 1938, 1940, 1942, 1946.

Between the tournaments of 1942 and 1946 Reshevsky 'retired' from chess in order to become a Certified Public Accountant. A necessity if he were to provide more than a meager existence for his family.

He played in one Amateur event, the 1944 USA Open at Boston, which he easily won.

This ends the period covered in this book.

No player has come close to Reshevsky's achievements without extensive study and training. They begin by playing over the games of the La Bourdonnais-MacDonnell matches (1834) and work their way through Anderssen, Morphy, Paulsen, etc. They know all the writings of Steinitz, Tarrasch, Lasker, Alekhin, etc. They know of every game played by their rivals.

There has never been a better 'player' than Reshevsky. His will to win has never been surpassed. Not by Lasker, Alekhin, Fischer or any of the greats. Botvinnik was not in Reshevsky's class in that respect.

Resheveky's weaknesses were (1) Time-pressure (2) He tried to win every game in the end game, even against much weaker players.

All critics (Fine, Max Euwe, etc.) had acknowledged Reshevsky's tactical provess. Ho was considered the best in the world.

In his The Battle of Chess Ideas, Anthony Saidy wrote an excellent appraisal of Reshevsky. E.g. "Reshevsky's resourcefulness in bad positions won him from the Soviet commentators in 1937 the description 'escape artist'."

Reshevsky is the leading exponent of the 'classical' style, thriving on double-King-Pawn and double-Queen-Pawn openings. With White he almost always begins 1 PQ4. This move is used by players who want to gain an advantage in space and win the end game. Many of his games are perfect demonstrations of how to win a symmetrical position one tempo ahead.

He plays the Black side of the Ruy Lopez with consumate skill. As Black, one of my favorite games is Landau-Reshevsky, Kemeri 1937. It opitomizes his counterattacking style.

He plays the Exchange Variation of the Queen's Gambit Declined, and defends the Ruy Lopez, because he must create a fixed Pawn formation in order to calculate deeply. One does not see wild positions in his games (we see wild finishes!) because he does not allow tension to remain for long, in the form of possible Pawn captures.

In addition to the psychological reason for his inability to abide tension, there is the factor that he plays by calculating long sequences of moves. When doing this it is very difficult to visualize the effect of Pawn captures because the Pawn captures in a different manner from which it moves and opens lines in an uncommon manner. It is much easier to analyze long variations based on piece maneuvors and captures.

Every Master has superb imagination, but it can be offensive or defensive. Players with great offensive imagination, such as Keres and Geller, think first of how to open lines and attack. Next, they think of the possibility of losing. Reshevsky thinks first of how tho open lines can help his opponent's attack. Unlike other defensive articts (like Maroczy and Flohr) he did not degenerate into (Continuation of Book Review, RESHEVSKY ON CHESS, by James R. Schroeder) a dull wood-shifter who played many draws and rarely won. Reshevsky isn't like this because he can see much further into the position and has better judgment. He allows the game to become very complicated and double-edged.

What Reshevsky lacks is the compulsion to communicate. He is the only great player who wasn't compelled to write about choss. Morphy had a newspaper column. Steinitz, Lasker and Capablanca published magazines. Fischer wrote his first book when he was only fifteen.

Unless you were there you can't imagine the excitement that swept over the chess world when it was announced that a book by Reshevsky was being published. I haven't seen anything like it in twenty-five years.

As it turned out, Reshevsky probably did not write it. The analysis of the games is pedestrian and uninspired. The Opening analysis is poor and the middle-game analysis is contradictory.

Reshevsky probably didn't write the autobiography, 'either. I asked him some questions about what he had written and he didn't know what I was talking about.

Nevertheless, it is one of the greatest individual games collections.

The magnitude of Reshevsky's rugged, self-made style holds increasing fascination for me. He is the ultimate fighter and distinctly unique.

Eventually, the Reshevsky luck ran out. He was cheated out of first prize at the 1955 USA Open. Other players swindle him and escape with draws in lost positions. He might be USA Champion today if he hadn't made an offensive blunder in a game with Robert Byrne.

Except for lack of energy he is playing better than ever. In the fifth hour of play he weakens.

If you take Reshevsky's brain (like Donovan's Brain) and give it sufficient energy he might still become World Champion - and a millionaire chess player.

MY PLATFORM FOR PRESIDENT OF THE WASHINGTON CHESS FEDERATION

As Holly Mulkey says, it is not news, but I will be a candidate for Precident of the Washington Chess Federation this Fall. If elected, here is what I would like to see done. If you do not support this program, cast your vote accordingly. But, if elected, I will initiate the following actions:

1. Establish a calendar of official, WCF-sponsored open tournaments for the entire year 1974. These events would be scheduled at not more than one per month. Additionally, no conflicting tournaments inside the state of Washington on the same weekend or in the same geographical region as an official event would be permitted to be advertised in NORTHWEST CHESS. The newly elected WCF Board of Officers would determine which events would be on the official calendar.

2. Once the annual calendar is established, open bids for each event would be solicited from responsible clubs and organizations. A "bid" would be a complete listing of the tournament conditions, location, entry fees, guaranteed prizes, etc. Bids would then be considered by the WCF Board of Officers which would then decide by vote which bid was best for each event.

 Institute a vigorous, state-wide junior chess program with an upward progression of competitions. As an example of what I mean:

October: Grades 1-5 School Championships to be held wherever possible in all cities throughout the state. Entry fee §1, all of which, minus TD fees, to be sent to the WCF for a special tournament fund. Reciprocally, the WCF would provide all trophy awards. No cash prizes. All events unrated.

November: Grades 6-9 county level Championships to be held wherevor possible throughout the state. Entry fee $2, all of which, minus TD fees, will be sent to the WCF. The WCF would reciprocally provide all trophy awards and rate all events. WCF memberships awarded to the top 20% in each tournament. No cash prizes.

December: Regional High School Championships to be held in Moses Lake, Spokane, Yakima, Wenatchee, Tri-Cities, Bellingham, Renton, Auburn, Olympia, Tacoma, Bremerton, and any other cities which have established high school leagues. Entry fee 33 plus WCF membership. All money, minus TD fees, to WCF. WCF to furnish trophies and rate all events. Top 20% qualify into state Invitational High School Championship, to be held during Spring vacation week.

January and February: WCF rated Masters and Experts to visit on a voluntary basis all possible schools, hospitals, prisons, and community centers in their respective areas, giving simultaneous exhibitions, chess talks, etc. After advance approval and coordination, WCF to pay a token fee of $5 per visit to each Master and 33 per visit to each Expert.

March and April: High School Team Championship High School Individual Championship Washington State Junior Championship

4. Maintain contact with USCF officials and attempt to bring a Masters' level tournament to the Northwest during my tenure of office.

5. Assemble and have published a WCF handbook to be issued to all members, outlining what their money is used for, and listing their rights and responsibilities as WCF members.

I invite your comments, either to me personally, or as "Letters to the Editor" in future issues of NORTHWEST CHESS.

Robert A. Karch

"DO YOU STILL HAVE THE ONE HUNDRED DOLLAR PASS?" is a question I've heard at tournaments both in Washington and Oregon. My answer has been No, but I've changed my mind. ACS is in a period of expansion, and we will be holding additional tournaments in Washington and Oregon, outside of the Seattle area. No, I won't be directing them! Instead, we are teaming up with other, well-known directors who will then manage the competitions in their own local area!

For $100 you can enter any ACS sponsored weekend tournament (including the Independence Week Congress) from now until the end of the year. With our new program of open tournaments, class tournaments, and junior tournaments (plus we won't tell you what else is coming!) you should more than get your money's worth. And you will be helping a good cause!

Mail the $100 to my office in Seattle, or give to the director of any ACS sponsored tournament.
