St. Anne Celtic Challenge Spring 2025

Josh Sinanan

he Spring 2025 edition of the St. Anne Celtic Challenge took place on Sunday, March 16, at St. Anne School in the swanky Queen Anne suburb of Seattle. A healthy showing of 129 scholastic chess players in grades K-10 participated in the event, with a large percentage turning out from nearby Seattle neighborhoods.

The field was split across five sections parsed by grade and rating: K-1 U700, 2-3 U700, K-3 Open, 4-8 U900, and 4-12 Open. The biannual St. Anne Celtic Challenge chess tournament remains a popular event for many on the local chess "circuit" due to its later start time, efficient schedule, and excellent organization on behalf of the parent volunteers.

Instead of beginning early in the morning, the Celtic Challenge begins on Sunday afternoon, which makes it much more palatable for out-of-region players who value their beauty sleep!

Despite over-saturation scholastic chess tournament scheduled in March. the event still did well attendancewise and drew from a large swath of towns including Bothell. Shoreline, Redmond, Seattle, Bellevue. Everett. Sammamish, Issaguah, Lake Forest Park. Renton, Snoqualmie, Maple Valley, Fircrest, Clyde Hill, University Place, Gig Harbor, Belfair, Mercer Island, Olympia, Milton, Medina, and Kenmore. Several teams turned out in masse to vie for one of the five coveted team trophies, with Clara Barton, St. Anne, Somerset, Thurgood Marshall, Medina, and Heatherwood Middle bringing sizable posses!

The St. Anne organizers strive to create a relaxed tournament atmosphere and foster good sportsmanship on the part of the players, which is regularly emphasized and encouraged throughout the event! As for the games themselves, there is never any shortage of excitement due to the diversity of levels and playing styles on the part of the youngsters taking part in the proceedings. In the 4-12 Open section, at least one game routinely went the distance each round, often finishing just minutes before the start of the next round.

The St. Anne Celtic Challenge was hosted by St. Anne School, organized by St. Anne Chess Club Coordinators Carlee Thorrington & Arlene Kelly, paired by WCF Member-at-Large Ani Barua, and directed by WCF President and St. Anne Chess Coach Josh Sinanan.

St. Anne Celtic Challenge Prizes

Trophies awarded to the top 10 scoring players in each section.

Trophies awarded to the top 5 finishing teams.

Team Score consists of the top 4 scores from same school across all sections.

The tournament was held once again in honor of Coach Chris Hurley (1965-2020), who founded the St. Anne Chess Club and built up the St. Anne and Seattle Prep chess programs from scratch. Many thanks to the amazing chess families and volunteers who contributed to this fantastic event!

A Conversation with Mani, FIDE Arbiter

Ken Lee

anunthon (or Mani to her Atikankhotchasee friends) (MAH-noon-ton AH-teekahn-KHOT-cha-see) one of the newer faces to the Pacific Northwest chess community.

The translation of her name gives us just a hint of what makes this young woman so remarkable.

In Thai, her name means "A person who finds deep joy in their homeland and carries a strength greater than that of the mighty elephant and lion."

It's hard to believe that someone who started learning chess at the age of 21 went onto to compete on the international chess stage with such success.

Meet Mani, a hyper-accelerated hero from Thailand whose journey is anything but ordinary.

life."

Despite discovering chess relatively late, Mani earned many prestigious titles including (Woman FIDE Master), FA (FIDE Arbiter). and FI (FIDE Instructor), and proudly represented Thailand in four Olympiads.

to use that same capacity to work She went through and solve difficult on to found her own chess school. where she taught 200 students, including children with ADHD and autism, inspiring them through joyful and resilient learning.

For more than eight years, chess was her full-time profession until the pandemic led her into law, where she briefly worked as a lawyer. Now based in Seattle as a student, Mani continues to blend strategy, heart, and purpose into everything she does.

At the 2025 Washington Open, I had the opportunity to chat with Mani about fear, what makes a good Arbiter, and the value of solving puzzles throughout your Ken: Mani, I understand that you started playing chess a bit later in life.

Mani: Yes, unlike many of the kids today who started when they were quite young, I started playing chess when I was 21 years old.

Ken: What motivated to you to start playing chess?

Mani: Free food!

Ken: Interesting! What do you mean by that?

Mani: I was already part of the Championship Air Pistol team at Thammasat University in Bangkok, Thailand.

We were a very strong team. But I heard that there was an opportunity to play on the chess team and that they provided players develop a great free food competitors. ability to solve problems and > Ken: The free food was enough to keep you motivated?

Mani: problems, in their own Actually, I found out also that there were potential scholarships involved with chess, so I jumped at the chance to get involved. Law school is very expensive and so I had to find alternative ways to pay my tuition.

> Ken. So how did you learn to play so quickly?

Mani: A friend taught me just seven days before the Olympiad chess tournament in Istanbul. I practiced and joined the Thai National Team.

Ken Wow, you made the National Team after only one week of study?

Mani Well yes and no. I took sixth place, and they only took the top five members to the Olympiad.

The following year, I went on to the University Games and I became champion my first year.

Ken: Why do you think you progressed so quickly in chess?

Mani: Ever since I was young, I was highly driven and competitive. I think I took to chess so quickly because I was clever and I had a mix of fear and no fear.

Ken: What do you mean by that?

Mani When I was eight years old, I met a fortune teller with my brother. The fortune teller shocked our family when he told my brother that he was going to die in a train accident at the age of 15. He also told me that I would die in a car accident at the age of 25.

Unfortunately, the prediction about my brother was accurate. My brother did indeed perish in a train accident.

Ken: I'm so sorry. That is quite shocking. How did you react?

Mani: I was very upset about the loss of my brother. It also made me very aware of my own morality because I had to live my life for the next 17 years with this dark prophecy hanging over my head.

Ken: Clearly the thought of mortality shaped and informed your personality.

Mani: Yes. I was convinced that I was going to die at a very young age. So, I adopted a kind of a "no fear" mentality about everything. I would try and do crazy things because I figured that life was so short. I was determined to try everything.

When I was younger, I got into a lot of trouble.

But as I got older, I kept using that motivation to fuel my desire to be the best.

Ultimately, that's what propelled me to compete on the national Air Pistol team and eventually the national chess team of Thailand.

Ken: What happened after your 25th birthday when you realized that the fortune teller was wrong?

Mani: Well, one of the first things I did was I learned to drive a car! I figured since the prediction was wrong, I could start living a new kind of life.

Ken: Was it liberating for you?

Mani: Yes and no. After I passed 25 and I became a top chess player in Thailand, I became a little bored. I felt, for a while, that I was getting lazy.

Ken: Is that how you changed your direction to become a FIDE Arbiter?

Mani: Not exactly. I became a FIDE Arbiter because of a unique opportunity that was presented to me.

A sponsor told me that I could participate in more tournaments if I learned to become an Arbiter. If I was an Arbiter, the tournament fees would be waived.

Ken: So, again money was a motivating factor?

Mani: Yes, but also my boyfriend at the time was an Arbiter and he seemed to enjoy that role a great deal.

Ken: How did you become a FIDE Arbiter so quickly?

Man: I was a lucky to meet and work with FIDE Master and International Arbiter Peter Long from Malaysia. He was teaching a seminar in Thailand about how to become a FIDE Arbiter, and the organization needed a translator who understood chess.

Ken: So, you stepped forward with your "no fear" attitude?

Mani: Yes. When I think about it, that's one of the qualities that I think makes a great Arbiter.

You have to be fearless.

Ken: What do you specifically mean by that?

Mani: A great tournament is run with excellent time management. A well thought out and accurate start and end time makes a big difference in the quality of a tournament.

What I mean about being fearless is that you have to approach a tournament, big or small, with the attitude that you are going to get it done and that you are going to solve any problem that comes your way.

Ken: What other qualities do you think one needs to become a good Arbiter?

Mani: I think having a quick and agile mind is helpful. I also think that having a facility for numbers and logic are required.

Even though some people might think coming up with pairings is just mechanical, it also involves split second judgement as well. In our community, people understand the subtle nature of pairings and think of it as mix of science and art.

Ken: How did you connect with the Washington Chess Federation?

Mani: About two years ago, I began my studies in Global Business at the University of Washington.

That's when I entered my first tournament in Seattle. At the time, my English skills were rather limited, but I did make some connections early on.

Ken: When did the WCF realize who you were and your formidable credentials?

Mani At my second tournament, I met Ani Barua. He found out that I was a WFM and that I worked as a FIDE Arbiter. I told him about the FIDE tournaments I worked at throughout Asia and Europe.

Ken: He must have felt like he struck gold.

Mani Well the feeling was mutual.

Ani introduced me to National Master Josh Sinanan, President of the WCF and things progressed rather quickly.

Ken: You've worked at hundreds of tournaments and seen thousands of chess competitors. In your opinion, what makes the Pacific Northwest a unique community?

Mani: I lived in Norway for a time and the climate in the Pacific Northwest reminds me of Norway.

What I think makes the Pacific Northwest unique is how so many cultures from South Asia, Asia, Europe, Russia, and throughout the USA blend so effortlessly. It's a unique environment and I think the Pacific Northwest can take enormous pride in what they have accomplished.

It makes me smile when I see kids from different cultures playing, discussing chess, and getting along in such a cheerful manner.

Ken: Do you have some advice for chess players in general?

Mani: At one point, I've had as many as 200 chess students in Thailand. I've also seen thousands of competitors throughout the years.

My main advice is this.

Just get a little bit better every day to enjoy a career in chess.

If you are winning too much you are going to get bored. If you are losing too much, you are going to get frustrated. So just concentrate on the idea of small incremental growth every day.

Ken: I've noted that you worked with many students who have ADHD or who are on the Autism spectrum.

Can you tell me what specific benefits you have witnessed that chess provides to the neurodiverse community? Mani: In Thailand, I've had the privilege of working with many neurodivergent children, some with very significant challenges, and seen them rise to become national players and even represent Thailand at the Chess Olympiad.

What I truly love is utilizing chess as a means to help neurodivergent children develop better social skills. The benefits have been so tangible that some parents have come to me in tears to thank me for my work.

Ken: What specific benefits did you note?

Mani: Increased focus and a calm state of mind. Every child sat still, quietly focusing through all seven rounds of a full-day chess tournament. For children with ADHD or autism, this is a remarkable sign and a promising first step in safe and structured social participation.

Increased friendships from every game interaction.

Parents often tell me that their child finds it easier to make friends at chess tournaments compared to the classroom. They build friendships with kids by comforting each other after a loss. They also cheer each other's wins and have even asked me to assist their opponents.

These small acts of kindness become profound steps in the cognitive and emotional development for neurodivergent children.

Ken: That's amazing. Any final thoughts to our chess community?

Mani: I think chess players develop a great ability to solve problems and puzzles. I want to encourage them to use that same skill to work through and solve difficult problems in their own life.

Ken: Can you expand on that idea?

Mani: If you think of life as a series of puzzles to be solved rather than a series of obstacles to overcome, I think it changes your mindset.

I think solving problems and puzzles becomes a joyful activity and can create real positivity and growth in human beings. And it's also good to remember the motto, "No Fear!"

Don't miss out on the opportunity to make your next move in the game of real estate.

Your kingdom awaits!

Detective Cookie Chess Classic

Josh Sinanan

he third annual Detective Cookie Chess Classic took place on Sunday, April 6, 2025, at the Rainier Beach Community Center in Seattle. A record turnout of 180 players came out for the event, which spanned grades K-11 and featured five sections separated by grade level and rating: K-1 U700, 2-3 U800, K-3 Open, 4-8 U900, and 4-12 Open.

The Rainier Beach Community Center, located in the heart of South Seattle, once again served as an excellent venue and was easily accessible for players from the south end. Detective Denise "Cookie" Bouldin, founder of the Detective Cookie Chess Club, was onsite throughout the day and enlisted the help of her fellow police officers to provide a free hot-dog lunch for all attendees.

The festivities began opening remarks from Detective Cookie, Washington Chess Federation (WCF) President Josh Sinanan, and Tournament Director Mani Atikankhotchasee, who offered words of encouragement to the room full of budding chess players taking part in the proceedings. Though primary featuring a high concentration of South Seattle based folk, players hailing from numerous cities throughout the Pacific Northwest were also in attendance, including Seattle, Sammamish, Bothell, Redmond, Bellevue, Tacoma, Richland, Tukwila, Belfair, Mercer Island, Fircrest, Covington, Maple Valley, Des Moines, Kirkland, Issaquah, Bellingham, and Kent.

Adding to the excitement and celebratory atmosphere was the fact that April 6 was WCF President Josh Sinanan's 40th birthday. Despite his best attempts to keep the news on the down low, it was inevitably made public knowledge with a special birthday announcement, a colloquial rendition of the "Happy Birthday" song, and chocolate cake with candles shortly before the start of the final round. Many thanks to those who wished me a happy birthday and special thanks to the Samantha Smith players for their generous gifts and Captain Peter Zou for the wonderful post-tournament birthday dinner and celebration! Making it 'over the hill' at a chess tournament wasn't so bad after all!

The event was hosted as a collaborative effort between the Detective Cookie Chess Club, the Seattle Police Department, and WCF. Detective Denise "Cookie" Bouldin and WCF President Josh Sinanan served as coorganizers, with WCF FIDE Liaison Mani Atikankhotchasee managing the pairings. Chess Mom and photographer extraordinaire Meiling Cheng took hundreds of wonderful photos and video footage throughout the day!

Volunteer judges circulating throughout the playing room included WCF Member-at-Large Ani Barua, WCF Junior Ambassador Selina Cheng, and WCF Co-Vice President Duane Polich. The Seattle Police Department ran and sponsored the concessions, which were conveniently located adjacent to the parent waiting area in the multipurpose room. Many thanks to the team of amazing volunteers and community center staff that made this fantastic event possible.

(L-R) Chouchan Airapetian, Josh Sinanan, and Detective Cookie celebrate Josh's 40th birthday at the 2025 Detective Cookie Chess Classic.

2025 Western States Regional Championship For Women And Girls

(Record Participation)

Chouchanik Airapetian

hanks to the support of a $2,000 grant from US Chess, sponsorship from the Washington Chess Federation (WCF), and a $500 grant from My Chess World, the 2025 Western States Regional Chess Championship for Women and Girls was a huge success! Held April 12–13, this event reached record attendance with 46 female participants including many strong prospects.

The tournament welcomed experienced players including Megan Lee, a US Open Women's Champion and overall Washington State Champion, as well as FIDE Arbiter Manunthon Atikankhotchasee who mentored players throughout the event. Alongside these incredible players, I was honored to organize and sponsor this celebration of females in chess.

The tournament was organized into three sections, each named after inspiring female chess champions: Megan Lee, Diya Deshmukh, and Carissa Yip. At Supernationals, Yip took time out of the blitz event to share her excitement about being featured: "I am grateful for this opportunity to promote female chess players in your community in Washington State. When I saw the flyer, I had a smile on my face. I appreciate your work!"

The goal was to make this a triple rated event (Northwest, US Chess, and FIDE) to engage experienced, developing, and unrated young female participants. Side activities included:

- A chess simul with Megan Lee
- A strategy workshop with me, Chouchanik Airapetian
- A puzzle-solving competition with Josh Sinanan

All three events achieved maximum capacity for participation.

Special thanks to Jennifer Shahade for donating her book Play Like a Champion as a puzzle prize, and Susan Polgar for offering her own books as additional awards!

But awards weren't limited to rating points. We celebrated with prizes for:

- Best Dressed
- Kindness & Spreading Joy
- Biggest Upset
- Best Mother-Daughter Duo
- Best Etiquette

Next year, we are planning to introduce Team awards in 2026!

This year's event was hosted across two venues to incorporate all the activities: Day One at Orlov Academy in Greenlake, and Day Two at Chinook Middle School. Shoutout to Sahara Pizza on Mercer Island for keeping our players fueled!

Huge appreciation to the WCF team, especially President Josh Sinanan, Ani Barua, and High School Ambassador Chloe Miller for supporting outreach through organizing and social media.

Our efforts were also amplified by the From Pawns to Queens Gala on March 21, 2025, at the Hilton Bellevue. It was a spectacular evening that supported our prize fund and scholarship opportunities across sections.

Lastly, a heartfelt thank you to all our amazing donors and supporters! From local businesses to artists to chess champions, this event was made possible by the generosity of so many:

- Local artists: Arka Jewelry, Arshalys Isagulyan, Galina Ponomarenko, Anahit Hayrapetyan, Susan K Reyes
- Sahara Pizza, Hayk Caffee, Hilton Bellevue, Sugar Mountain
- Metropolitan Market, Seattle Symphony, Seattle Towncar Reliable Services
- Seattle and Utah Chess Clubs, Coach Brad (chess camp), Cheesecake Factory
- Josh Sinanan and Chouchanik Airapetian (private lessons), Angela Agaian, Matthew Feng (peer lessons)

- Alexander Byelashov (business consulting), Katherina Rohonyan (special guest and donor)
- Krishna (tech support), Jesse Gibbs (beautiful gala flyer design)
- Great Wolf Lodge, Woodland Park Zoo, Balloon Ride Co., and many more!

Keep a lookout for upcoming events and galas with dates to be shared soon! Stay tuned at www.mychessworld.com for updates, tournament results, and more inspiring stories. Let's continue building a brighter, more inclusive future for women and girls in chess!
